DUTCH PLANE PLUNGE KILLS 22

FLAMES RAZE RESIDENCE ON BOWMAN ROAD

'Smitty's' Burns to Ground; Had Been Raided Often as 'Night Spot.'

The Bowman street road residence of Earl Smith burned to the ground last night. Flames of undetermined origin made the frame house a roaring inferno by the time a pumper from Station 2 of Mansfield's fire department arrived Firemen could only stand by, wetting down adjacent buildings, as the fire consumed the establishment. The alarm was turned in at 12:22 a. m.

Known to many Mansfielders as "Smitty's," the residence had been raided "several times" by the sheriff's department in recent years, Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said.

Raided Last June.

Most recent raid was last June when Smith was convicted in municipal court of illegal sale of intoxicating liquors and keeping a place where intoxicating liquors are illegally sold At that time he was fined $700

Since 1936 Smith has been fined a total of $1,300 on liquor charges, and sentenced to 10 days in the county jail Two other liquor charges during that time were dismissed.

Fire Capt. William Lowman said the alarm was turned in from a box on Bowman street near Brick street by a passing motorist. He said it was almost impossible to determine origin of the fire since it had such a start before firemen arrived.

Fiemen also were called to the Barnes Manufacturing company, North Main street, yesterday around 4.30 p. m., where a defective oil burner caught fire. There was no damage, firemen said.

U. N. STUDIES HUMAN RIGHTS

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — (INS) —An important week in United Nations activity begins today with the meeting of the human rights commission to formulate an international bill of rights

Tomorrow morning the security council reconvenes to weigh the advisability of starting hearings on the British complaint against Albania on the Corfu Channel minings. Unless the Soviet representative shows good cause why the Albanians were unable to reach Lake Success on time, the council will proceed with the case

At the same time, informal talks among the security council will continue in the next days on respective viewpoints over atom control and the problem of breaking the existing deadlock between the United States and Russia over disarmament procedure.

In addition to the human rights commission, the economic, social and statistical commissions are in session. All four are preparing drafts and recommendations on numerous problems for the main meeting of the social and economic council Feb. 28

WINTER DUE BACK TUESDAY

The spring-like weather which pushed the mercury up to a balmy 48 Sunday afternoon will be chased out of the city area by the return of winter tomorrow, the weatherman predicted today

While no severe cold is in sight, the temperature probably will drop into the low 20's by Tuesday night, the forecast said. The low last night was 37.

Showers are expected to turn to snow flurries tomorrow as the cold moves in.

Deep thawing of the earth during the past week has made many dirt and gravel roads in the county and unpaved streets in Mansfield almost impassable.

Motorists who don't have a stone or gravel base for their driveways also are having trouble getting their cars in and out of their garages

Killer Drops Hat At Murder Scene

CLEVELAND—(INS)—A hat provided Cleveland police today with the only clue to the murderer of Nick Salup, sixty-year-old east-side grocery proprietor.

The hat was dropped by the gunman as he fled the scene of the holdup-shooting Saturday night. Police hoped to make out a blurred name written on the inside band.

Unions to Seek Public Support For Pay Boost

Three united electrical unions, representing approximately 6,000 workers in seven of Mansfield's largest industries, will base their requests for higher wages this spring on the Robert Nathan report on wage and price relationship, it was announced today.

The decision was made yesterday at a meeting of 75 stewards and officers of Locals 711, 758 and 759 at the CIO hall.

Negotiations for wage increases are expected to be opened within the next two months, union spokesmen said

The Nathan report stated that over-all profits in national industries would warrant a 25 per cent wage increase to workers without hiking prices of products.

Seeking to "sell" the report to the public, the unions set up a Mansfield UE committee for Community Action which will outline a publicity program, Thursday at 10 a. m. at the CIO hall.

William Kozma, UE District 7 executive board member, who will head the committee, said the group will be financed on a per-capita basis by the three locals

Others chosen for the committee are Joseph Hawkins, president of Local 711, Westinghouse production workers, George Braen, president of 759, Westinghouse salaried workers, Forrest Payne, business agent of Local 758, Charles Zuber, Local 711, executive board member, and Robert Dittrich steward of Local 758

7 Plants Included.

Industries in Mansfield expected to get the wage increase requests include Westinghouse, Ohio Brass, Hughes-Keenan, Martin Steel Products, Cleveland Grain Elevator, Ideal Electrical Manufacturing company, and Humphryes Manufacturing company.

The committee will also work for a united committee of CIO, AF of L and Railroad Brotherhoods in Mansfield, Kozma added. This second step of the committee's work was mapped yesterday after a discussion on the anti-labor bills now before the state and national legislatures.

Speakers at the union meeting were Lem Markland, international UE vice president, and Mrs Ruth Merson, District 7 membership activities director.

Amvets Place an 'If' In Vote to Back Bonus

Members of Robert P. Spreng post 26, Amvets, voted an "if" into their support of a proposal for an Ohio bonus to be paid to veterans of World War II.

Meeting yesterday in Memorial hall, members of the post voted to back the bonus proposal only if the money could be paid from surplus state funds without the necessity of a general increase in taxes

Robert E. Rogers, post commander, said today the Amvets feel that an increase in real estate taxes would cost the average veteran more in a short time than he would realize from a bonus.

Speakers at the Sunday meeting cited studies showing that to finance a state bonus, the increase in real estate taxes on a property valued at $10,000 would amount in 11 years to more than a $500 bonus

* * *

Oppose Pension.

"The post also adopted a resolution that we locally oppose a projected bill being readied for congress that would pay a pension to service personnel who have reached the age of 60 and who are now disabled from causes other than service-connected disabilities," Rogers said.

Rogers said that this resolution was forwarded to the Amvet state department with a request that it muster full support of Ohio Amvets against payment of such a pension, providing other posts concur.

Fred Tonnemacher, chairman of the club site committee, reported generous response from the public on an appeal for help in locating a club site Tonnemacher said that 16 sites had been offered These range from down-town locations to residential sections Each site will be investigated and reports submitted at the next meeting, Feb 6

* * *

Support Navy Drive.

Support of the navy's V-6 recruiting campaign now underway in the city was recommended.

A membership dance, open to all veterans as well as to the general public, will be held Feb. 28 at Grotto hall

Rogers also announced that the first copy of a monthly bulletin, including accounts of all action taken by the post, will be mailed to members before each Sunday meeting. Permanent dates of the Sunday meetings will be decided at the next meeting, Rogers said

Another Record Crop In Making For Ohio Farms

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Another record crop is in prospect for Ohio farmers in 1947.

Rural economists at Ohio State university based their prediction of record yields on the condition of winter wheat and of meadows. The presence of ground moisture, and the fact that farmers generally are caught up with their work.

In all sections, they said, exceptionally favorable fall weather permitted complete harvesting of corn and soybeans, so there is no hangover to delay spring work. There is a final optimistic prediction of more power farm machinery and fertilizer.

CAPONE 'BROKE' SAYS ATTORNEY

MIAMI BEACH, Fla —(AP)— The body of Al Capone, once fabulously wealthy Chicago gang leader whose attorney said he died broke, lay in a mortuary here today, waiting completion of plans for the funeral here later this week.

Dr. Kenneth Phillips, who attended Capone for several years and was with the 48-year-old ex-mobster when he died in his 25-room villa on nearby Palm Island Saturday, said the final rites would be held here

Close relatives visited the funeral home last night but left without revealing any further plans

In Los Angeles, Capone's attorney, Abraham Teitelbaum, said as far as he knew "Al left no will and no money." The lawyer said members of Capone's family had supported him in recent years, and the villa was "mortgaged to the hilt."

Federal officials once estimated Capone's fortune at $20,000,000 but, Teitelbaum said, "Al still owed the government money when he died"

Capone suffered a stroke at 4 a m last Tuesday but rallied and for a time it was believed he might recover Pneumonia developed and the end came suddenly.

BROMFIELD NAMED IN $400,000 SUIT

A $400,000 suit, charging Author Louis Bromfield with invasion of privacy, filed by Madame Marie Ritz of the Ritz Hotel in Paris, was termed as "very preposterous" today by the author in a telephone conversation with The News-Journal from the Hotel Algonquin in New York.

Madame Ritz said she objected to Bromfield's description of her in "What Became of Anna Bolton?" The novel, Bromfield said, was published either late in 1942 or early in 1943

I used her in the book as the proprietor of the Ritz hotel, which she is," the author commented. "There's something behind all this, but I don't know what."

Bromfield said he had known Madame Ritz for 15 or 16 years He said that no lawsuits had ever been filed against him before in connection with characters in his novels and that he doubted "if anything will come of it"

THREE DIE IN FIRE

BOSTON—(U.P.)—A mother and two small children burned to death while her husband and a third child were injured seriously today when a fire trapped them on the top floor of a Dorchester tenement house. Five other families escaped. Dead were Mrs. Rose Myers, 33, her 5-year-old daughter Lee and a son Eugene, 2.

GOV. TALMADGE FACES BATTLE TO HOLD RULE

Georgia Legislatoure Begins to Show Signs of Revolt as Voters Complain.

ATLANTA, Ga. — (UP) — Gov. Herman Talmadge may face a rebellious legislature today when he presses for passage of an all-white primary bill and for confirmation of 13 appointments that would give him the whiphand in his dual governorship battle with M. E Thompson

The possibility of a revolt in the legislature that elected Talmadge governor was sensed last week in a tie senate vote on whether Thompson's oath as acting governor should be expunged from the record. The oath stayed.

* * *

Claims Shift.

According to Thompson, legislative sentiment shifted even more over the weekend when lawmakers had a chance to sound out their constituents.

"Their constituents are putting the pressure on them to undo the damage done to Georgia by the illegal election of a governor," Thompson said He suggested that the first step to undo their work would be for the legislators to pass a Thompson-sponsored measure to void Talmadge's immunity from quo warranto court action.

The Thompson camp plans to introduce the measure in both houses today in an attempt to speed up court adjudication of the tangle. Thompson already has filed a suit for declaratory judgment on whether he or Talmadge is legal governor and the case is to be heard Feb. 7.

The legislature was not the only seething point in Atlanta today.

Citizens Gather.

Hundreds of delegates from all over the state were gathering at the Piedmont hotel to organize new chapters of the "Aroused Citizens of Georgia," a group first formed in Lamar county and which seeks immediate adjournment of the legislature pending a court decision on who is governor.

And a group of 91 war veterans from 25 Georgia counties started a movement to organize a separate Democratic party in the event the white primary bill is passed

Doctor Wipes Out Scowl On Youth's Face

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich —(UP) —Young David Ruge wondered today whether any girl might be interested in him now that he has a new face to replace the deformed one that had embittered his 17 lonely years

David, who tried in desperation last year to extort money from his Chicago employer for a plastic surgery operation, got his first look at the new face when bandages were removed yesterday

The Chicago youth stared into a hand mirror and could only murmur, as tears rolled down his newly-smooth cheeks, "Gee, it's wonderful, isn't it?"

Dr Ferris N Smith, the famous plastic surgeon who performed the operation without charge, said the operation was a success and that David would be able to leave the hospital in two weeks to start a new life.

Irate Father Says Teacher Hit Girl

XENIA—(INS)—A Bellbrook high school instructor was charged today by a Waynesville father with striking a 17-year-old girl student in the face

Argus Saylor filed charges of assault against a minor female against R W Spence, mathematics and physics teacher. Saylor accused Spence of striking his daughter, Norma Jean, after telling her to stop whispering in class

KIDNAP CASES BRING UPROAR IN HOLY LAND

Armed Men Grab British Judge While 5,000 Troops Seek Another Hostage.

JERUSALEM — (INS) — Ten armed men kidnaped a British judge from his court room in Tel-Aviv today as 5,000 British troops searched Palestine for a civilian abducted earlier by the Jewish underground.

The second British civilian taken hostage by the Jewish underground in less than 24 hours was Judge Ralph Windham, acting president of the district court.

Enter Courtroom

The kidnapers entered the courtroom and forced the 42-year-old jurist to go with them at gunpoint. The abduction victim is the heir presumptive to the Bowyer-Smyth Baronetcy in England.

The daring kidnaping occurred as squads of British troops poured through Jerusalem and its suburbs seeking the first kidnap victim, former British Major H I. Collins, a director of the British-owned Jewish bank.

Shortly after Collins was kidnaped by armed, masked abductors, the Irgun Zvai Leumi radio broadcast a warning to British authorities not to carry out the death sentence against Dov Gruner, 33-year-old underground comrade. Gruner was condemned to death for participating in the bombing of a police station in April.

Collins, who resigned his commission to enter civilian life, was kidnaped while visiting a friend by four masked men and a girl. The abduction took place in the heart of Jerusalem.

Troops Sweep City.

Infantry units, Bren gun carriers and armored cars were rushed into the city to initiate the hunt for the former cavalry officer. Pictures of the kidnap victim were quickly printed and distributed to squads of police cars

All traffic was being halted and police stations at Bethlehem, Hebron and other sections of south Palestine were alerted to halt any attempts to smuggle Collins from the city.

Last week, British army authorities increased patrols from three to four members as a safeguard against kidnaping attempts. All cofes, theaters and similar public places were placed out of bounds for British personnel.

Grace Moore, Prince Adolf Die In Crash

Denmark In Mourning After Disaster; No Witnesses Remain Alive To Tell Cause of Airliner's Destruction.

COPENHAGEN—(UP)—The White Cross of Denmark flew at half staff today in national mourning for the crash of a Royal Dutch (K. L. M.) airliner in which 22 persons died, including Grace Moore, American opera star and Prince Gustav Adolf of Sweden.

Feeling of national tragedy was evident throughout Denmark. The state radio played only solemn music. Orders for court mourning were awaited

GRACE MOORE

PRINCE GUSTAF ADOLF

An investigation committee of the K L M line ordered the charred wreckage of the twin-engined Dakota left untouched on the Kastrup airfield where it crashed yesterday K L. M and Danish government officials together sought to learn what caused the plane to plunge into the earth from 150-foot altitude as it took off for Stockholm yesterday.

* * *

Abnormal Condition Blamed.

A preliminary K. L. M. statement attributed the crash to a too rapid ascent which made the plane uncontrollable. "The accident could be attributed to an abnormal condition of the aircraft," it said.

An exact explanation will be difficult because everyone aboard was killed and the plane badly burned. K. L. M. said all normal safety measures had been taken before the plane started.

A Swedish warship was expected to carry the body of 40-year-old Prince Gustav Adolf to Stockholm after services here. The prince, second in line to succeed his grandfather, King Gustav, to the Swedish throne, was husband of Danish Crown Princess Ingrid.

* * *

Miss Moore On Tour.

Miss Moore was going to sing in Stockholm after a highly successful appearance here Saturday night. Her French accompanist, two of her Danish impresarios and Gerda Neumann, noted Danish singer, were among the dead.

The plane was on a scheduled run from Amsterdam to Stockholm. It had stopped at Copenhagen for 25 minutes. Its motors were given a routine check during the halt

Prince Gustav Adolf had flown in the plane from Amsterdam, where he had been the guest of Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands. He stepped from the plane at Copenhagen to buy a Swedish newspaper and told newsmen, "I have nothing to say, as usually I do not give statements to the press."

Miss Moore and her party stepped aboard the plane shortly before it took off. The plane with its 16 passengers and 6 crew members rose from the ground, faltered, plunged into the snow-covered earth and exploded.

All the passengers died instantly, all were found seated in the debris.

DEATH CLOSES STAR'S CAREER

NEW YORK — (UP) — Grace Moore, 45, the opera star who died where she wanted her public to always remember her — at the peak of her career—will probably be buried in Tennessee, friends said today.

Funeral arrangements awaited word from her husband, Valentin Parera, the Spanish actor, whose illness had kept her in Europe.

A few days before she died, she told Danish newsmen that she had just finished her memoirs. "Many people write their memoirs," she said, "when they are old and forgotten I want to write mine while I am still on top and feel I can give people something through my singing and not only just by memories"

As she boarded the plane yesterday, she told them "I have told you all my past. Only the future is left for me"

A few minutes later she was dead

Typical American.

Her story was that of an American girl who was confident she could do anything she wanted to

She was born on the outskirts of Del Rio, Tenn., a hamlet she called Slabtown, and was reared in Jellico, Tenn., where her family still lives. Friends said she probably would be buried in the cemetery there.

She went to Europe last June. She had planned to return for an engagement at the Metropolitan this winter, but remained with her husband at their Riviera Villa after his serious throat operation.

She was survived also by her mother, three brothers, Richard, James and Martin, and a sister, Mrs. Emily Mahan.

Planes Salute City To Open Navy Drive

Navy planes spelling a huge "N" roared into the skies over Mansfield yesterday afternoon as the navy launched its V-6 recruiting drive here The 17 planes—Avengers, Hellcats, and Corsairs—came in from the south at an altitude of 2,000 feet

After some 20 minutes of formation flying, the planes headed back toward Columbus, this time saluting Mansfield by forming a huge "M" Thousands of Mansfielders witnessed the show.

Lt Cmdr. A. E. Heiser announced at the recruiting office today that William F. Waber, jr., of Loudonville was the first man to enlist in the current drive. Waber joined up at his old rate of hospital apprentice first class.

At Central park "The Navy on Wheels" was opened to the public at 11 a m today The exhibit, housed in two trailers contains wartime devices that helped win the war.

On display are a radar unit in actual operation, an instrument panel from a fighter plane, and cold weather flying gear In addition, there's a life raft of the type used in air-sea rescues during the war.

A model of the Cruiser USS Cleveland may be seen as well as models of aerial bombs, rockets, and of anti-aircraft guns The exhibit will also be here Tuesday, opening at 9 a. m

CIO RESUMES STEEL PARLEY

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Leaders of the CIO-United Steelworkers union and the U. S. Steel Corp. resume negotiations on a 1947 contract here today, but already the firm has agreed to distribute more than $30,000,000 in back pay and $17,000,000 in wage increases.

The retroactive pay and the salary boosts, however were not involved in 1947 bargaining Spokesmen for both labor and management said they were the result of a 1944 war labor board order issued to smooth out wage inequities throughout far-flung U. S. Steel subsidiaries.

The agreement announced over the weekend covered six subsidiaries — Carnegie-Illinois, National Tube, American Steel and Wire, Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad, Columbia Steel, and the Ironton (Utah) plant of Geneva Steel.

Similar pacts were being arranged for other U. S Steel firms, while throughout the industry an estimated 84 companies were reported following the same WLB directive.

Today's contract negotiations involve the same companies covered by the newly-announced agreement, with the exception of the Geneva Steel plant in Utah.

BIDDING GOES HIGH

LONDON—(AP)—Two first editions of John Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress sold for $24,800 at auction today. The books were from the library of the late Sir Leicester Harmsworth.

MILLER AGAIN GETS COMMISSION POST

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Governor Herbert reappointed Harry M. Miller of Gallipolis today to the state utilities commission for a six-year term and designated him as chairman.

Miller, who begins his new term Feb. 1, thus becomes the first member to be reappointed to a consecutive term since the commission was organized in 1913 He is the only Republican member of the board.

As chairman, he succeeds Harold Mason, Upper Sandusky, who remains a commission member.

FULL HOUSE ASSURED FOR CONCERT TONIGHT

Mansfield's Mastersingers will present their second concert tonight before a capacity crowd in John Simpson junior high auditorium with Mac Morgan, young singing star, as featured soloist.

The men's choral group, organized last year, will open tonight's concert at 8:15 p. m. All tickets for the program have been sold.

Opening number on the program will be Schubert's "The Omnipotence" with Iden Jackson as soloist. Other numbers in the first group will be "Crusader's Hymn" and "The Lost Chord."

Morgan, young baritone, who has gained fame in radio and concert work will present the second series, including "Preach Not Me Your Musty Rules," by Dr. Arne; "Star Vicino," by Salvator Rosa; "Tu Lo Sai" by Guiseppi Torelli, and the aria, "Vision Fugitive" from Herodiad, by Massenet,

Following intermission, the Mastersingers will present "March of the Men of Harlech," a Welsh song of courage and patriotism; "'Pale Moon," by Logan, and "The Whiffenpoff Song," by Pommeroy-Valee.

In his final group, Morgan has chosen five familiar ballads, beginning with "I Love a Lass," by Paul Whiteite, and including, "Pleading," by W. A. Walter Kramer, "Cowboy Song," by Wolcott Street," the famous spiritual, "Were You There," and "Spring Plowing" by J. Jacques Wolfe.

"The Battle Hymn of the Republic," with E. Morgan as soloist, will be the grand finale. Dr. F. A. Hoffman, accompanist for the Mastersingers, and Mrs. Margaret Hallill, will play two pianos.

Change Due In Edicts

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— In ye good old days when I first came to Washington, prohibition had just been repealed and congress in its wisdom had made two decisions:

1. A fellow downing whisky by the dollop is less likely to fall on his face and knock out his front teeth if he does his drinking sitting down. He doesn't have so far to fall.

2. He must not watch the bartender mix his drinks because there is something hypnotic about the rhythm of a cocktail being shaken, causing him to drink more than he should orter.

These edicts were a jolt to the keepers of the newly-opened saloons. They ripped out their brass rails in connection with regulation number one, because it was a crime to drink standing up. Anybody who didn't believe it got six months of sitting in the district jail.

WALTER LIPPMANN, now on vacation, will resume his column on Feb. 8.—Ed.

Rule two meant in effect that the bartender could look jovial until the moment he began mixing the drink. Then he had to become an invisible man. There were protests, but congress would not listen.

The barkeesp solved this one finally by erecting behind each mahogany counter a cubicle about the size of a phone booth. The mixologist received the order and popped into his stall. In a matter of minutes the drink he stirred in secret slid through a wicket, where the waiter swooped it to the fascinated customer.

* * *

IT WASN'T LONG before the WCTU announced a statistical survey, proving that Washingtonians drank more hard likker than anybody else in America. I mention this simply to indicate that the traffic through the mixing booths was heavy.

Sometimes a bartender would disappear into his hole and not emerge all night. When finally he stumbled out, he was a weary wretch with gin, brandy and vodka splashed on him until he shied away from lighted cigarets because he was a fire hazard. These conditions led to carelessness, yes, and greed.

Some bartenders used the same olive in a succession of martinis. One cherry served for a number of manhattans. In some saloons the patron who ate these fruits and vegetables was regarded as an undesirable customer.

The re-treaded olive and the ever-lasting cherry led inevitably to the glass that never got washed. My germs soon became your germs in a Washington saloon. It took congress five years to admit its mistake and bring the city's pallid bartenders, blinking, into the open.

All this leads up to a decision congress soon must make on ruling number one. How drunk can you get standing up? And how drunk sitting down?

Wouldn't you fall down quicker, and hence imbibe less, if you had your feet twined around a rail? Or would you be inclined to go to sleep and forget your whisky, if you were resting in a soft chair?

Opinions differ. The three district commissioners are pondering a new law to make it legal to drink in the perpendicular. The congress will hold hearings on this important matter.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Discusses Closed Shop

SENATOR BALL of Minnesota, seems to have taken the floor for the time being on the subject of the closed shop and his proposal that the same be outlawed.

Like the lily white primaries of the south, and Jim-Crow, this is a thing, this closed shop, which came about as a desperate expedient to combat immediate inequalities and dangers, and I doubt that it can be cured, suddenly, by any firm national law or a number of individual state laws except in states which are not strongly unionized.

Ironically, but not strangely, for they are as inconsistent as a bouncing football, whose whimsical behavior Knute Rockne used to dwell upon in lectures to his battalions at Notre Dame, the bleeding-hearts of the late New Deal upheld the closed shop as angrily as they damn racial discrimination for substantially the same faults.

The south went lily white and adopted Jim Crow in desperate circumstances. The white patriots, and they were patriots to their own land and included the best people of the south, had been barred from the polls and from the rights of citizenship by hot-eyed fanatics of the north, most of whom had taken an aloof and sedentary part in the long war, but now rushed in as profiteers and fore-runners of our latter-day AMG and UNRRA

* * *

THESE FURIOUS and greedy oppressors could not forgive the late rebels for having fought so well. So, as a humiliation, in addition to other punishments, they were subordinated to the freedmen, most of whom were absolute illiterate and could be manipulated by the carpetbaggers. The liberated slaves could vote but the white war veterans could not and the poverty stricken rebels saw their government taken over by rascals from the north who operated through Negro puppets. That was the condition that brought about the Ku Klux rebellion and the Negro exclusion from the polls and social segregation.

In theory, the open shop is ideal. Its correctness has been conceded in slurred and furtive passages, even by Franklin D. Roosevelt and Madam Frances Perkins. But the closed shop is a practice and a condition whose sudden abolition by the enforcement of a national law would raise hell in American industry and, undoubtedly, cost lives.

The closed shop was a method of compelling workers to join unions for their own immediate good—the good of them all. It was a way to prevent employers from bringing in temporarily distressed hands to undercut the going wages and to force the free-riders, or slackers, to pay into the union treasuries a fair price for the benefits in wages which the unions had won or claimed to have won

* * *

IN A VERY SHORT time, however, a union card in a closed shop became a new version of the yellow-dog contract by which employers, long ago, tried to break unions through individual agreements with individuals. It is a yellow-dog contract today. The closed-shop union workman has signed away his right of contract and agreed to live henceforth in the status of an "average" under severe discipline. He is not a man and an individual. He must not work any faster or better than the union allows him to.

The closed shop developed its own iniquities as bad as any that ever existed under the open shop but more dangerous because it concentrated so much political, financial and human power in the hands of a few.

The safe way and a feasible way is to trim those powers by laws which can be passed in the present mood of congress, which can be enforced and would be approved by the union members themselves. These would be laws to reform unionism from the outside.

I believe the rank and file would like these reforms because they would injure only the personal and political interests of the union bosses They would not damage the unions or the workers in them

Do this and, in a few years, we might try an open shop law for perfection's sake and find that only a few individualists preferred to remain non-union, after all.

WALTER WINCHELL

Opposes Race Ridicule

STEREOTRIPED caricatures and odious ridicule directed against various races and creeds may seem like an innocuous offense to the unthinking, but they have the most dangerous repercussions. . . . Walter White (Sec'y of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People) once related an episode which illustrates one of the by-products of this practice: A distinguished Negro poet was invited to lecture at one of our great universities. During a lull in the dinner conversation the six-year-old daughter of the university's president asked the poet: "Will you teach me how to shoot dice?" . . . Startled, the poet had to admit dice-shooting was not among his talents and asked the child why she had selected him as her teacher.

The youngster innocently and promptly replied: "In the movies, all Negroes shoot dice!"

Several decades ago the Irish were the victims of malicious lampooning by comics. The Irish tackled their problem by political organization. . . . They boycotted and brought pressure against those who thought it was amusing to abuse them. . . . They even established anti-stage Irishman societies, which expressed their discontent by rotten-egging Irish dialect comics. . . . The result was many of those comics were driven from the stage or changed their routines.

* * *

THE PERIL of comicism cannot be over-emphasized. Some time ago, Movieville turned out an alleged comedy that used Latin-Americans as the victims of ridicule. . . . When the cinema was unveiled in Buenos Aires a disgruntled audience tore up the theater in protest against the slanderous presentation of their countrymen.

That incident did more harm to our Good Neighbor policy than reams of Fascist propaganda.

The well-known comic's alibi that "people who laugh don't hate" doesn't stand up . . . Eugene Talmadge bamboozled chumps with his bigoted wisecracks . . . Huey Long also used the same routine . . . Many subversive rabble-rousers incite guffaws among their listeners via obnoxious racial humor . . . And then there is the famed, unforgettable news photo showing a storm-trooper laughing out loud while an aged Jew scrubs the sidewalk.

The fight against comics is as old as the battle against bigotry . . . A British author named Barrow once wrote this: "Wit is proper and commendable when it enlightens the intellect by good sense, conveyed in jocular expression; when it infringes neither on religion, charity or justice, nor on peace; when it answers what is below refutation; when it counterbalances the fashion of error and vice, playing off their own weapons of ridicule against them; when it adorns truth; when it follows great examples; when it is not used upon subjects improper for it, or in a manner unbecoming, in measure intemperate, at an undue season, or to a dangerous end."

That was penned in the 17th century!

MUNY COURT MARKS UP ITS BUSIEST YEAR

3,598 Cases Handled to Top 1945 By 78 Per Cent.

Mansfield's municipal court had a record year in 1946, handling 3,598 cases for a 78 percent increase over 1945, the annual report prepared for city council by Judge H. H. Schettler showed today. Previous high for a year was 1,973 cases in 1942.

Total receipts from all types of cases during last year amounted to $63,630.

Judge Schettler attributed the big increase in court business to the return of thousands of servicemen and women to civilian life, the city's growing population, and considerably heavier motor traffic.

Total receipts of the criminal branch of the court amounted to $62,917 from 2,992 cases.

Traffic violations last year totalled 1,307; intoxication 1,038; assault and battery, 107; speeding 565; unsafe operation, 123; operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, 97, gambling, 69.

The court handled two cases each of first and second degree murder.

606 Eviction Cases.

Of the total of 606 cases filed in the civil branch of the court last year, 208 were forcible detention suits. However it was unnecessary to forcibly evict any of the families involved, the municipal judge said.

Net income to the city from the civil branch of the court last year was $2,713.

Total paid into the city treasury from both branches of the court and including a refund of $711 from the county law library amounted to $48,667, Schettler said.

'KEEP DOGS TIED' ORDER IS ISSUED

Recent heavy loss of sheep in the neighborhood of Five Points, north of Mansfield, resulted today in an order that all dogs within a two and one-half mile radius of Five Points be kept tied at night

County Dog Warden C. H. Hill issued the order in reporting "three fine sheep" killed by marauding dogs Saturday night on the farm of Ira Bowman, Linn road.

Hill quoted the state law in pointing out that farmers have the right to kill, at any time or any place, dogs "that run, worry, injure or kill a domestic fowl or animal."

"A lot of sheep have been killed in that neighborhood lately. Most dogs do their killing at night so this order is effective for the night hours. We've got to stop the damage," Hill said

Two other farmers in the neighborhood have lost livestock in the past two months and their losses have resulted in claims totaling $163 against the county.

FPC MEETS TUESDAY NOON IN WOOSTER

Third 'Mistake' Of This Driver Caused Arrest

Motorist Al H. Clark of Cleveland was accused in a complaint on file today in police headquarters of having made a number of "mistakes."

Two of the "mistakes" were stated clearly in the complaint: (1) almost running down a pedestrian at Third and Diamond streets last night, and (2) of "insulting" the pedestrian.

A third "mistake" wasn't outlined clearly in the complaint but was indicated by the signature: "Police Chief Meade K. Bates."

Bates said he was crossing with the green light when Clark almost struck him. A "discussion" followed in which, Bates said, Clark "cursed him out." Clark was booked on a disorderly conduct charge and ordered to appear in municipal court Saturday.

DAHLIA SLAYER TAUNTS POLICE

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—A person believed to be the torture slayer of "Black Dahlia" Elizabeth Short, 22, tolay offered in a taunting letter, to surrender to police Wednesday.

The letter, addressed to the Los Angeles Examiner, "appears to be legitimate," Homicide Capt. Jack Donahoe said.

A quick examination by police chemist Ray Rinker showed no fingerprints.

The card, mailed in downtown Los Angeles late yesterday, read: "Here it is. Truing in Wed. Jan. 29 10 a.m. Had my fun at police. Black Dahlia avenger."

The note was scrawled in boldly-printed capital letters. It was written in ink on a penny postcard

Donahoe said the note might be the "letter to follow" referred to by the sardonic slayer last week when he mailed newspapers a package containing personal effects of the beautiful "Black Dahlia," whose mutiliated body was found Jan. 15.

FIREMEN BATTLE WAREHOUSE FIRE

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Cleveland firemen battled a stubborn three-alarm blaze today near the site of the disastrous 1944 East Ohio Gas company explosion-fire which snuffed out 130 lives in 1944.

The blaze was in a new two-story gas company warehouse and meter repair shop which was only about a quarter completed. The building was being erected at a cost of $1,250,000.

Firemen said that the blaze started when one of the kerosene heaters, used in drying out the concrete, was tipped over and set fire to the forms and lumber in the basement.

Florist's Father Stricken In Lorain

Word has been received here by Charles L Kafer, Mansfield florist, of the death of his father, Charles A. Kafer, 72, at his home in Lorain yesterday afternoon after a brief illness.

Surviving, besides the Mansfield son, is his wife, Nina E. Kafer; another son, George E., of Parma; and one daughter, Mrs. Susan Dalton of Lorain; and four grandchildren.

Services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., at the home in Lorain with burial there

NEWFOUNDLANDERS NOW TRAP BEAVER

ST JOHNS, Nfld. — (U.P.) — For the first time in 23 years the Newfoundland government has decided to permit the hunting of beaver, which in 1923 were threatened with extinction.

The government, estimating that the beaver population now has reached 50,000, has decided to issue beaver hunting licenses to about 600 trappers. Each will be allowed to take 10 pelts, which will be turned over to the department of natural resources for marketing.

On delivery, the trapper will be paid $15 a pelt—the balance after marketing. It is estimated that each pelt will bring about $40.

SMITH, MORRIS NAMED AS RESERVE OFFICERS

With Naval Reserve week under way in Mansfield, Lt. Cmdr. A. E. Heiser of the Mansfield naval recruiting station today announced the appointment of the commanding and executive officers for the volunteer reserve Electronic Warfare Company 197.

Lt. William R. Morris, 39, of Shelby, was appointed commanding officer, and Vere O Smith, 31, lieutenant (jg) of Mansfield, was named executive officer.

* * *

OTHER OFFICERS of the company, which is made up of five officers and 40 enlisted men, have yet to be appointed, Heiser said Five platoons, each consisting of one officer and nine men, are still to be organized.

Organized on a volunteer basis the company will utilize the equipment in the navy's proposed $300,000 armoury, construction of which is scheduled to begin in March and to be completed in July. As openings appear in the organized reserve Division 195, members of the volunteer company will be able to fill them, Cmdr. Heiser said.

* * *

MORRIS, ALSO ATTORNEY in civilian life, was born and reared in Shelby. He was graduated from Bethany college in 1929 and from the University of Michigan law school in 1932.

Returning to Shelby, he practiced law until he entered service in 1944. He was stationed at Hollywood, Fla., at New Orleans and, after a tour of duty in the Mediterranean theater, at Port Arthur, Texas. He was discharged in 1946, and returned to his law practice in Shelby. He is married and has one child. He is a former mayor of Shelby.

Smith, a Mansfield Veterans Administration training officer, lives at 218 Fairlawn avenue He was born at Pomeroy, O., and was graduated from Ohio university in 1939. Smith served on the faculty at Mansfield Senior high school where home was, for a time, faculty manager and an assistant coach

During his war service Smith served as communications officer with the first PT boat base established in the Philippines during the invasion of the islands.

CLEAN RECORD—

No reprimands or prosecutions were made or fines levied because of short measures or weights in Richland county last year, Harry K. Koch, county deputy sealer of weights and measures, reported today. The sealer found that 70 scales, of a total of 960, required major repairs during the year. Koch's annual report also shows that he sealed 1,200 weights without adjustment or repairs. He did the same for 40 liquid measures and 540 linear measures. Of 180 milk bottles inspected, only 10 were either too big or too little and only 10 of 90 oil bottles required rejection for inaccurate volume. One delivery of coal among 40 inspected was short, Koch reported.

COIN COLLECTOR ORDERED TO BIS

A 16-year-old Willow street boy, charged with breaking and entering homes in his pursuit of "coin collecting," pleaded guilty today and was sentenced to a term in the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster.

Although charged only with theft of $25 from the home of Frank Mengert, 306 Taylor road, police officers who apprehended him said that he was involved in other thefts.

Meanwhile, Roscoe Jones, 117 East Fourth street, charged with non-support of his seven-month old daughter, was ordered to pay to the county Child Welfare department $7 per week for her support. The department was asked to inspect the home of the girl's mother where the girl has been living.

The case of Wilbur Shade, Mansfield, R. D 4, charged with non-support of three children from 13 to 17 years of age, was continued until Thursday afternoon.

Purse Snatchers' Loot Valued at $59

Police today reported purses containing cash and other valuables at $59.50 were snatched from the arms of three women over the week-end. Police linked two of the purse-snatching cases to the same unidentified man

Kathryn Clark, 233 North Mulberry street, said her purse containing $7 was taken about 8:30 p. m. Saturday. She valued the purse and other contents at $30.

Helen Smith, 328 Prescott street, told police her purse, containing $26.50 in cash, was snatched on Springmill street about 7 p. m. Sunday. A few minutes earlier, Josephine DiSalvo, 561 Daisy street, reported her purse containing 40 cents was snatched on North Mulberry street. Both women gave similar descriptions of the man who stole their purses.

GLASS IN GARBAGE? CITY WON'T TAKE IT

Sanitation Supt. Al Strachan today ordered refuse collection crews not to pick up garbage that contains glass or tin cans.

Strachan's order follows an accident last week in which Collector Jay Edwards suffered a severe hand cut from broken glass in a garbage container.

15 PERCENT SAVINGS SEEN BY OFFICIALS

Board of Control Puts OK on New Five-Year Contract at Session Today.

Mansfield board of control today approved a five-year power contract with the Ohio Power Public Service company. Finance Committee Chairman Russel Porch estimated that the contract marks a 15 per cent reduction in the overall rate the city pays for power. The old contract was for 10 years

According to figures presented to the board by OPS Engineer J. A. McDermid, the city's power bill will be reduced some $9,000 this year if it uses the same amount of power as in 1946.

In 1946, McDermid's figures show, the city paid $61,747 for 4,996,313 of kilowatt hours of power. Under the new contract, his figures show, the same wattage would cost $52,420.

However, Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow said the city will probably use more power this year than last because it will need more to pump water. How much more power will be used "is anybody's guess," Enlow said.

The board includes Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and Director Enlow. It approved the contract, effective Jan. 1 of this year, following a meeting this morning attended by members of city council's utilities committee, City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner and McDermid.

* * *

Anderson Objects.

Utilities Committee Chairman James R. Anderson approved the contract after arguing that the eight-mill energy charge was too high.

He said the contract was "not very satisfactory to me," adding, "I am not sure OPS has given us the best contract it could."

After a lengthy discussion, however, he approved the measure and agreed to act as official witness to the signing of the contract.

Councilman Porch recommended acceptance, stating that "I think it's as good as you can get. The city could go to court in an effort to procure a lower rate, he said, "but it would cost as much money as we're getting with this saving" under the new contract, he said.

Solicitor Wagner approved the contract and Enlow said that Councilman Nelson Swihart, a member of the utilities committee unable to attend today's meeting, had given verbal approval Saturday.

The new contract is for power exclusive of that used for street lighting. Last year the city negotiated a new street lighting contract with OPS and it now gets that power free within $35,000 limitation. Power supplied under the new contract will be used mainly to operate water pumps.

SPEED-UP SOUGHT IN POLIO CAMPAIGN

In an effort to speed contributions for the March of Dimes drive, 1,000 additional letters were sent out today by the Delta Theta Tau sorority, W. Harold McClellan, campaign chairman, announced today.

Previously sorority members had addressed 6,000 letters to Mansfield residents, clubs and other groups. Although no statement was available today from Marshall C. Moore, campaign treasurer, contributions have been less this year than for the corresponding period last year, McClellan said.

It is preferred that contributions be sent to Moore, in the Richland Trust building, but McClellan said he had made arrangements with Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford to forward any mail addressed merely to the March of Dimes campaign

FERGUSON HITS LAND DEAL BY UNIVERSITY

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—State Auditor Joseph T Ferguson today leveled his guns at Ohio State university's expansion program and declared he would block any land purchases by the institution outside of Columbus unless the legislature authorized them.

Ferguson said he was notifying the university board of trustees and President Howard L Bevis of his plans

His action, he said, was prompted by reports the university was planning to buy 3,900 acres near Marion part of the Scioto ordnance plant, for use in agriculture and engineering instruction.

CITED AS VIOLATOR

Webster Bond, 30, was returned to Richland county from Akron Saturday to face charges of violation of probation On probation out of common pleas court since last March. Bond, convicted of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, was reported by Akron police as having been caught rifling autos in that city. A date for his hearing has not been set.

May Looks Like What He Is—Small Town Banker-Lawyer

By DOROTHY WILLIAMS

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Andrew Jackson May, now facing trial on corruption charges, looks like the small town banker-lawyer that he is.

The 71-year-old former congressman is a good-looking man of average build with a gray-fringed bald head and startlingly dark eyes. He is as likely to be jovial as peppery. And, invariably, his colleagues commended him as a hard worker during his long wartime tenure as chairman of the house military affairs committee.

There were times, however, when his military predictions proved to be off base.

* * *

BACK IN 1942 May reputedly told a reporter that World War II would end "probably in 1942 and unquestionably in 1943." May, as chairman of the military affairs committee, presumably was in a position to know what he was talking about. The prediction was printed widely. The next day May denied it.

From then on newsmen seldom interviewed May singly. They wanted witnesses to nail the story down.

"Nobody realizes how hard May worked during the war," one military committee member said. "I know one thing—there's a damned sight more good than bad in Jack May."

The same member spoke of May as "flighty" and "hot-tempered." He said that in executive committee sessions May was constantly banging the gavel in an attempt to get his way.

"Put that — — gavel down," he recalled another committee member as shouting.

* * *

"YOU SHUT UP or I'll break it over your head," he quoted May in reply.

In his personal life in Washington May was a man without hobbies. He was a staunch Baptist who neither smoked nor drank. Sometimes he spun tales about his native Kentucky or bragged a bit of the number of convictions he secured while he was a county prosecutor.

But he showed the greatest pride when he spoke of his two grandchildren. Once read a letter from his young grandson to the committee.

If Stomach Gas or Sour Food Taste Robs You of Sleep

Here's How You May Help, Whether You Eat 500 Pounds or 2000 Pounds of Food In a Year

You can't feel cheerful, be happy and sleep well, if your stomach is always upset. As age advances the "old stomach" needs more help. The reason is this:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains very special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

AGGIES, KENTUCKY LEAD NATIONAL COLLEGE FIVES

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK —(UP)— Deacon Gill Dodds, foot racing's comeback parson, was out after a 4:03 indoor mile record today which would eliminate Glenn Cunningham's unofficial 4:04.4 mark and there wasn't anybody around saying he couldn't do it despite a leg sprain.

Not among rival milers, anyhow.

After two years in retirement, Dodds started his Fritzie Zivic on the fresh pine planks at Boston Saturday night with a 4:09.1 triumph which left his closet competitor scattering splinters 35 yards behind as Gil snapped the tape. This despite the injury.

That 4:09.1 in his big-time debut, second time around, is simply the best clocking ticked off since Dodds retired after hanging up the official indoor record of 4:06.4 in 1944.

A sensational performance after such a long layoff. But the really amazing part of it all is that Gil was shooting for 4:03 his first time out—and a bit disgusted that he didn't make it.

* * *

"THE SLOW first quarter spoiled my chances of running 4:03," Gil said disappointedly after his victory. "However, there are other aces coming and I don't believe his leg will bother me."

That made it clear that Dodds was out there his first time out striking for Cunningham's unofficial 4:04.4 set in a paced mile at Dartmouth. Gil's official record, two seconds slower, doesn't satisfy the deacon.

Indications are, also, that any record breaking will be strictly up to Dodds unless Sweden's Rune Gustafson gets acclimated to the boards and shows some of his outdoor prowess.

Gustafson didn't go against Dodds on Saturday night, running fourth in the Boston 1,000 as he tried to sharpen his speed. If anybody is to press the 28-year-old returning master, however, it will have to be the Swedish swifty for nobody seems able to match Gil's murderous pace. They'll tangle for the first time Saturday night at the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden.

Simpson Plays Ashland J-V's

John Simpson's crack junior high basketball squad hopes to get back on the victory wagon tonight when they play host to the Ashland high school junior varsity in the Simpson gym at 8 o'clock.

Simpson had romped to six straight victories before dropping a 38 to 30 decision to the Mansfield Senior high sophomores last Friday night. Coach Bob Kendy's quintet will also put a 17-game home court winning streak on the block tonight.

The Bulldogs defeated Ashland 33 to 26 earlier in the season. Kendy will rely on his regular starting lineup tonight. The starters are: Don Cline and Charles Jenkins, forward; Ed Demyon, center and Willie Fowler and John Sazanoff, guards.

Proceeds of the game will be to the Ashland athletic department. The proceeds will be used to replace valuables lost by the Ashland reserve football team at a game at Stadium field last fall.

OWU Relays To Be Renewed

DELAWARE, O. —(AP)— Continuance of Ohio Wesleyan University's annual relays for Ohio high school athletes will not affect Wesleyan's admission to the Ohio conference next December despite a rule prohibiting members from holding scholastic sports events.

Conference President Walter Livingston of Denison University said last Saturday the College Athletic Circuit would not bar Wesleyan from membership if the university held its 16th annual relays April 26, largest one-day high school track meet in the nation.

Earlier, there was talk that Wesleyan might cancel the meet to lose its chance for membership. The university, now serving a probationary year toward admission, made most of the arrangements for the relays before the conference approved the membership application last December.

Bill and Friends Take To Dancing

CLEVELAND —(NS)— President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians has a "going out" party on tap for tomorrow night in Cleveland.

The youthful ideal leader will celebrate the arrival of his new artificial leg with an informal dance for friends at Cleveland's Hotel Hollenden.

Veeck announced plans yesterday to open negotiations with New York in search of a center-fielder following another unsuccessful attempt to get Stan Spence from the Washington Nationals.

SETON HALL, WEST VIRGINIA OTHER THREATS

Oregon State, California Cream of the Far West.

NEW YORK —(UP)— The two national champions, Kentucky and the Oklahoma Aggies, again were leading the way as college basketball approached tournament time today with most of last year's tourney participants bidding for another chance.

Kentucky, defending national invitational titlist, has lost one game and the Aggies, defending NCAA champions, have dropped two, but both were outshining the list of nine undefeated teams. Of the nine, only Seton Hall and West Virginia appeared to be tournament threats.

West Virginia has won eight and probably will come back to the invitational at Madison Square Garden, where the Mountaineers looked good last year. Seton Hall has won 17 and was rated as a potential dark horse. Other unbeaten teams were Duquesne (11-0), Alabama (11-0), Army (6-0), Marshall (16-0), Washington & Jefferson (8-0), Kirksville, Mo., and Trinity.

Syracuse (12-2), Rhode Island State (11-1) and New York university (9-2), all high in tournaments last season, were expected to be back in those tournaments again.

Kentucky defeated Xavier last Saturday, 71 to 34, for its 17th victory, and the Wildcats, so deep in manpower that some All-Americans of last season are only subs this year, have averaged 70 points per game. The Aggies, whose 14 victories include triumphs over Kentucky and Texas, the only games those squads have lost, were idle.

Kentucky gets one of its severest tests next Saturday when it plays at Notre Dame, itself a national leader with 10 victories in 12 games. The Irish will play NYU at Madison Square Garden Feb. 24, and these two games involving three first-rate clubs were expected to provide some national clarification.

Texas, idle last week, has won 14 against its lone loss, and other teams with single defeats were Santa Clara (16-1), Eastern Kentucky (11-1) and Fordham (8-1).

Oregon State, which has won 17 and lost two, and California appeared to be the cream of the far west. Oregon State divided a pair of weekend games with Washington, winning 59 to 37 and losing 60 to 44. California divided with UCLA.

In other games Saturday, Notre Dame walloped Purdue, 74 to 43; West Virginia buried Bethany, 91 to 34; Army toppled Dartmouth, 55 to 44; Alabama outlasted Vanderbilt, 38 to 33, and Seton Hall thumped Scranton, 60 to 33. Two games were outstanding in the Big Nine—Illinois humbled Wisconsin, 63 to 37, and Minnesota took Indiana, 59 to 56.

Stirtzinger, Hadie Young Cop Doubles

New leaders in the singles and doubles were posted yesterday as the 1947 Men's bowling tournament was concluded on the Colony bowling alleys.

Steve Stirtzinger and Hadie Young, Sons of Herman league bowlers, took the doubles championship with a resounding 1,359 while Earl "Buck" Furman notched the singles crown with a 692. A. Zacharzuk and H. Iles, Galion, rolled into second in the tandem competition with 1,30

Hugo Brannon and A. Schneider ran up 1,319 pins last week and ended in third place in the duo pin-blasting. Dick Reisch's 683 gave him the runner-up position in singles.

Young and Stirtzinger pieced together games of 435,401 and 385 with a 138 pin handup for their winning total. Young hit one of the top three games in the tournament, 214-220-206-(8) — 688. Stirtzinger had 221-181-179-(90) —671.

Dearman's Transportation won the team championship with 3,129.

All-events winners will be announced tomorrow according to Harold Selby, secretary of the Men's bowling association.

7 Encounters On N-O Sked

SHELBY — Seven games are scheduled for the Nothern Ohio league teams during the coming week with the feature tilt taking the Shelby Whippets to Norwalk.

To remain in the running for the championship, Coach Charles Williams' quintet will have to best the Huron county five. Only mar on Shelby's league record was a 47 to 45 defeat at the hands of Bellevue in a double overtime game last week. It was the Whippets' first circuit loss in four starts.

The 1,500 persons attending the Shelby - Bellevue game comprised the largest crowd at a cage tilt here in the past 17 years. The only equal was back in 1929-30 when the Whippets were winning the old North Central Ohio league tilt with former Coach Paul Curry, now a school board member, at the coaching helm.

On Tuesday night, Fremont Ross will travel to Bellevue and Crestline to Mansfield Madon in non-league games.

On Friday night, eight of the league schools will be in action in official league games. Shelby plays at Norwalk, Bellevue at Bucyrus, Crestline at Willard and Upper Sandusky at Galion.

The other league quintet, Norwalk, will travel to Johnstown, N. Y., for a non-league tilt on Saturday night.

Bill Daley Signs With Pittsburgh

CHICAGO —(INS)— Bill Daley, former fullback star at Minnesota and Michigan, announced today that he had signed a one-year contract to play with the Pittsburgh Steelers in the National professional football league.

Daley played last season with the defunct Miami Seahawks in the All-America conference.

Illinois Upsets Big 9 By Swamping Wisconsin

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

CHICAGO — (INS) — Leave the form sheet at home. Bring an abacus and a bottle of neuralgia tablets and let us examine the Big Nine basketball race in general and a savage Illinois team in particular.

It is passing strange, this Western conference cage business. Wisconsin plays Northwestern at Madison, Wis., tonight, and a Badger loss will give first place to Michigan, which hasn't played since Jan. 18 and doesn't play again until Feb. 3.

A Wisconsin triumph tonight will put the Badgers back as exclusive first placers and will end all remaining title aspirations on the part of Northwestern.

In the meantime, Purdue battles Minnesota in the Boilermaker baliwick at Lafayette, Ind.

But this discussion was going to center on Illinois.

Take a deep breath, and consider that the Whiz Kids seem finally to have found themselves.

They gave conclusive notice of this at Champaign, Ill., by avenging previous grievances and beating Wisconsin—the Badgers' first league loss.

But it wasn't what they did—it was the way that they did it. While a happy home throng of 7,500 fans in George Huff gymnasium tottered with applause, the Whiz Kids ran up a vicious 63-to-37 accounting.

Hoosier Star Big 9 Leader

CHICAGO —(INS)— Smooth Ralph Hamilton, ace forward and Indiana team captain, could thank Jack Smiley of Illinois today as he rocketed into the Big Nine individual scoring lead.

While Hamilton was connecting for 18 points against Minnesota Saturday night, Smiley held Wisconsin's talented Bobby Cook to a lone field goal and three free throws to knock Cook out of the scoring lead. The Badger star's average of 17.8 points per game, however, still leads the field.

Cuemen Meet Yunckers Five

The Smokehouse - Yunckers Sports cage contest headlines play in the City A league at the Senior high gym tonight.

Smokehouse is tied with Komito's Clothiers and Richland Beverage for the top rung of the first division with five victories in six games, while Yunckers are tied with Urschel Insurance quintet for the No. 1 spot in the second division. Each have been victorious in four of their six tilts. The Cuemen meet the Sportsmen in the last game.

Opening play at 7, will be the Clothiers against the AVC combine. The Veterans have won only one of their five contests.

In the second cage fracas the Insudancemen collide with Mansfield Tire. The Tiremen have a record of two wins and four defeats.

Hogan Pockets First Prize In Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(AP)—Par Master Ben Hogan today appeared bound for an even more successful trip down the PGA tournament trail this year than he enjoyed last year.

The long hitting little shotmaker from Hershey, Pa., yesterday captured the Phoenix Open Golf tournament for the second successive year with a 72-hole 270, 14 strokes under par.

Just about a year ago today, the little guy defeated Herman Keiser of Akron, O., 68 to 70 in a playoff for first money after they had tied at the end of the regulation route with 273, the old mark.

U. S. Open Champion Lloyd Mangrum and Ed (Porky) Oliver of Wilmington, Del. has 277 each to tie for second and third.

Jim Demaret of Houston, Tex., who finished behind Mangrum and Oliver with a 278, is the defending titlist at Tucson, Ariz., where the tourning pros are scheduled to start Thursday.

Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kas., announced that he intended to take part in the Tucson Open, from which he has been barred by the PGA tournament committee.

The PGA committee, headed by George Schneiter, of Ogden, Utah, was equally insistent that the links star could not compete or at least would be denied any share of the prize money should he win.

Metz was suspended last week from participation in the Phoenix and Tucson Opens as a result of an altercation he had recently with Fred Corcoran, tournament bureau manager of the association.

Anderson Returns As Bird Manager

COLUMBUS — (INS) — An old favorite returned to Columbus today, this time as manager of the capital city Red Birds.

The parent St. Louis Cardinals announced the appointment of Harold Anderson, 43, as manager of the club. Anderson roamed the Columbus outfield from 1932 to 1936, being particularly noted for his defensive ability.

Hayesville-Perrysville Game on Tap Tonight

PERRYSVILLE — The Perrysville - Hayesville high school basketball game wil be played here tonight instead of tomorrow night as originally scheduled.

Perrysville romped to a 57 to 42 victory over Hayesville earlier in the season.

Makes Pro Debut

COLUMBUS — (INS) — George Bollas, 335-pound national collegiate heavyweight champion last year while a member of the Ohio State Wrestling squad, will make his professional debut Friday night when he meets Fred Carone in a 30 minute match at Columbus.

Buck Basketeers Quest For First Road Victory

A 28-game schedule will keep Ohio college basketball teams busy this week, but only two contests were scheduled for tonight. Ohio State plays at Butler in one game tonight while Dayton bumps into Cincinnati.

Ohio State, winner of only three games in 11 starts, will be making its eighth attempt to record its first road victory of the season. Butler leads the Mid-American conference with three wins and no defeats.

Cincinnati suffered its sixth setback in 15 games Saturday night when the University of Louisville defeated the Bearcats for the second time, 71 to 52.

Baldwin-Wallace, elevated to the Ohio conference lead when it defeated Akron University Friday night, retained undisputed possession of the top spot when Findlay dropped a 71 to 57 decision to Heidelberg Saturday.

Findlay's loss left B-W with the only unblemished conference record. The Yellow Jackets have won five straight.

On the basis of season long results, however, Capital moved back into the lead. The Lutherans ran their seasonal mark to 8-and-2 with a weekend triumph over Ohio Northern while Findlay, the erstwhile leader, was losing.

Capital's 70 to 56 win over Northern snapped a two-game Lutheran losing streak.

Capital has only one test this week, meeting Marietta Saturday night in an Ohio conference game.

Pritchard Leads Rams Scoring Race

Eldon Pritchard has a seven-point lead in the Mansfield Madison scoring according to figures released today.

The lanky junior forward has poured 105 points through the hoop in nine games for an average of 11.7. Pritchard has connected 47 times from the court and 11 from the gratis line.

Herb Eldridge is second in the scoring column with 98 markers while Dick Ernsberger has 79. Eldridge has averaged 10.8 a game.

Madison goes against its 7th Class B opponent tomorrow night when it entertains Crestline. A reserve clash will open the festivities at 7:15.

The Rams have won eight in a row since dropping their opener to Mt. Vernon. Madison has two of three games with Class A foes.

GIRL FRIEND OF MUSSOLINI HELD AS SPY

BORDEAUX, France — (AP) — Madelein Corabouef, who once had had a love idyll with "my Benito" Mussolini and shot a French ambassador whom she blamed for breaking up the romance, will go on trial Wednesday as a spy for the Nazis.

The once-beautiful darling of the pre-war Paris literary and theatrical world now is 37 and has become so nervous that doctors have been giving her sedatives.

The daughter and granddaughter of French artists, Miss Corabouef was married at 17, divorced two years later, and then became a newspaperwoman who called herself Magda de Fontanges. She was on terms of warm friendship with numerous political personalities in the early '30s.

In 1936 she went to Italy to help "celebrate the Fascists era" and managed an introduction to Mussolini through the French ambassador, Count Charles de Chambrun.

Later, after the romance soured, she blamed the ambassador, and fired two revolver shots at him in a Paris railway station in 1937.

She is charged with hiring herself out as a Nazi spy for $42,50 a month plus expenses and for denouncing several Frenchmen to the Germans.

At her preliminary hearing, she said she had given the Germans only valueless information that lulled and misguided them.

Johnston Office Turns to Long Range Planning For Film Firms

By VICTOR GUNSON

HOLLYWOOD — (CP) — The Eric Johnston office, which 17 months ago succeeded the screen world's Will Hays office, is now firmly embarked on its own program.

Its main aim will be the replacement of Hollywood's past policy of almost invariably acting for the sake of expediency with one of long range planning.

Byron Price, head of the Hollywood office, says: "The motion picture industry should not only know where it is going to be tomorrow, but 10 years from now and 25 years from now.

"Working out such a program cannot be done overnight. It is going to take slow, patient work, but it will be accomplished."

* * *

JOHNSTON, who served for four years as president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, succeeded Hays, "czar" of the American screen industry for more than 20 years, on Sept. 19, 1945.

Changing the previous policy, he established the headquarters of the Motion Picture Association of America, the national screen group, in Washington, rather than in New York. A year ago he prevailed on Price to become his chief assistant in charge of the Hollywood headquarters. Price, world famous newspaperman, had been executive news editor of a wire news service and head of the Office of Censorship during the war.

In that capacity Price became vice president of the Motion Picture Association of America and chairman of the board of the California group, the Association of Motion Picture Producers.

In its program of long range planning, the Johnston office has three main objectives:

1—Permanent labor peace.

2—A greatly enlarged program of research.

3—Improved public relations.

* * *

EVERY EFFORT of the association is now being bent on its labor policy, not only to end the present Conference of Studio Union strike, now in its fourth month, but to bring a solution of the bitter jurisdictional strife between the CSU and the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes.

Johnston and Price both believe that a lasting settlement of labor problems now is imperative to the growth of the $3,000,000,000 a year industry.

The research program is now being developed so that the entire industry will participate. The only research now being done is almost entirely in the hands of the Research Council of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Science and the Society of Motion Picture Engineers.

"The research done by the motion picture industry as a whole is the smallest of any of the great industries," Price explains.

"Technological advances must be made. Improvements can be made in every field in the industry. One reason why these may be found is to reduce the cost of production. "These costs are far too high."

* * *

PRICE BELIEVES that every effort should be made to create respect for the movie industry.

"We should let more light into it, so that the world may realize its adult size," he says.

However, he points out again, the whole program is going to take time.

One office of the old Hays office remains unchanged. That is the censorship office, headed by Joseph Breen, whose opinions are among those most respected by the whole movie industry.

THEY THINK AHEAD—Eric Johnston, left, czar of the film industry, and his right-hand man, Byron Price, outline long-range program.

BRITISH FIRMS MOVE BACK OF EMPIRE'S FLAG

Warrior Merchants Give Up Colonial Powers.

By HAROLD G. LAYCOCK

LONDON—(AP)—Britain's Royal chartered trading companies, whose flags once led the ranks of imperial conquest, today have quietly surrendered their roles of militant administration.

The ancient scroll of warrior merchants, headed by such as Clive of Indian, Cecil Rhodes and Prince Rupert, has changed to a list of company directors, or, in many cases, disappeared altogether in step with the nation's retiring armies of colonial acquisitors.

One Firm Revives.

But at least one of these ancient companies is resurging with a good deal of its old pugnacity. While the East India company sleeps with the bones of Clive and Pitt, and the British South Africa company dozes as a quiet investment concern, a new campaign has been launched and almost won by the Hudson's Bay company, pioneers of British business in Canada's arctic fringes.

Shorn of the governing power that erstwhile bristled from chains of forts spanning the wastes of Rupert's land, Hudson's Bay executives in London are re-fortifying their still vast tracts of territory with commercial armaments of formidable caliber. Their target is recapture of the world's fur trade.

Two hundred and seventy-six years after King Charles II granted a royal charter to his cousin Prince Rupert and 17 other noblemen as "the governor and company of adventurers of England trading into the Hudson's Bay", the virile commercial progeny of those colonial traders today are within sight of their new goal.

The Rupert's land of 1670 has developed greatly from the grim white wilderness where 120 company employees first shivered and bartered and repelled poachers from other nations. Fort Garry, lonely outpost which relayed precious skins to the hungry auctions of London, has blossomed into thriving Winnipeg. From 1869, vigorous Canadian governments have administered the prospering territory while permitting the company retention of posts and stations.

Yet through all the changes and progress, the Hudson's Bay company, while steadily ceding its governing rights, fended off encroaching competition, continued to trap the wealth of Canada's pelts and sieve it through the Hudson Strait to London.

British fur magnates who had wrought London's traditions in the trade, scattered to New York and Montreal during the war and for six years London's fur market echoed emptily to bursting bombs.

With peace, it bustled into activity again, and today Hudson's Bay company officials are proclaiming London's "return as the fur center of the world."

In this revival, the traders have been assisted by government removal of an embargo on the import into the country of raw fur skins.

Fruits of such initiative were evident at the Hudson's Bay company's first postwar auction in London this year. In the first hour, 50,000 pounds ($200,000) worth of furs were sold, and at prices higher than those obtaining in New York. Business on the first day clambered to $200,000 pounds (800,000) and such figures have tempted the company's experts to whisper prophecies that the 1938 high of 13,000,000 pounds ($52,000,000) worth of skins imported into Britain, mostly for auction and re-export, might be passed this year or next.

RETURN OF THE PRODIGAL—Those cheers echoing offstage at Hollywood, Calif., are for June Harris (above), who left Hollywood two years ago to seek fame and fortune on Broadway and found it—in Hollywood. She has just returned with a nice new movie contract from Paramount. (AP Wirephoto).

ARCHERS PLAN BUFFALO HUNT

RAWLINS, Wyo. — Archers from approximately 25 archery groups throughout the nation are expected to participate Feb. 14 in a "one-arrow" buffalo hunt being staged by the Rawlins Chamber of Commerce on the 200,000 acre Bolten ranch.

The hunt, which the chamber of commerce hopes to build into an annual affair like Wyoming's one-shot antelope hunt, will recall the days when Indians, with drawn bows, bent low over the necks of their galloping mustangs to kill buffalo which ranged the prairies.

Each hunter, according to tentative plans, will be allowed one arrow. Hunters making the kill will be awarded the heads of the animals for mounting.

Isadore Bolten, Carbon county stockman and rancher, owns the buffalo and runs them with his several thousand head of cattle.

According to preliminary arrangements, the hunters will pursue the buffalo on horseback. Each will draw for flight position. If one hunter misses or fails to bring down the game, the next in numerical order will succeed him.

Tentative plans call for the killing of three buffalo One will be cut up and pieces distributed to those participating in the hunt. Two hundred pounds of meat will be turned over to the chamber of commerce for its annual agricultural banquet, and the remainder will be sold at auction, the funds going to the Shriners' Hospital at Salt Lake City. Two buffalo hides also will be sold at auction, and the third will be kept by Bolten.

Dr. G. H. Good, state veterinarian and humane officer, has indicated that he does not believe the hunt would be inhumane.

PRIEST PLAGUED BY NAME TROUBLE

DES MOINES—(AP)—A young Des Moines priest had so many first names he finally took them to court in desperation. He emerged finally tagged for life as Paul Francis Hans.

Father Hans said that different names employed at baptism, confirmation and upon his entrance into a Catholic seminary had resulted in his becoming identified variously as Francis Joseph, Paul Leo, and Paul Francis.

Employment of different names on his driver's license, draft card and other records resulted in a very confused situation, he said.

Old Heidelberg, Minus Duels, Sets New Enrollment Record

HEIDELBERG —(AP)— Famed old Heidelberg university has more students today despite war-time disruptions than at any time since it was founded in 136.

Back in its saber-rattling period it had at most 3,000. Now it has 4,000 mostly Germans But as the university goes forward under the watchful eye of the American military government there are 400 Polish, Hungarian and Baltic youths in the student body.

The students are too busy with their books to think of resuming the duels which helped to carry the university's name around the world.

"Duels are just a legend now," smiled Lieut Col. Leo P. Irvin, chief of military government's higher institution division in Wuerttemberg-Baden.

Gone, too, are the university's course on aero engineering, its secret fraternities and its drinking clubs—there isn't much for Germans to drink these days, anyhow.

Col. Irvin, formerly associated with Miami university in Ohio, said the Heidelberg faculty has been purged of Nazi elements and that the military government even had prohibited the return of some professors who were cleared by denazification boards.

He said Heidelberg retained a certain amount of independence during the Hitler regime although some of the university's top officials fell under the Nazis who refused to promote faculty members who declined to embrace the party line.

Consequently a number of younger men became Nazis and now are barred from the university. The result is that the faculty is composed largely of older men.

Heidelberg's enrollment includes 2,787 men and 1,215 women. Women are not new to the university but their proportion is higher now than before.

Students, like the faculty, must be "politically clean." From there on, preference is given to students who have attended the university before and want to complete their courses.

Consequently only 282 new students were admitted for this winter term and 3,000 turned away.

Col. Irvin said there was not much prospect at present of American students studying at Heidelberg, as many did before the war. He said that even when restrictions against Americans visiting Germany were lifted, problems of food and housing shortage must be overcome.

The colonel, and his associates, conceding that Heidelberg probably is Germany's best-known university, contend that there are others as good.

"Goettingen is probably better in mathematics," said one. "Others may be better in other phases. Heidelberg was popular with Americans chiefly for its philosophy course. But its fame seems to have romantic background.

"The operetta, 'The Student Prince,' probably had something to do with it."

LIFT FOOD TAXES ON POLISH FARMER

WARSAW —(AP)— The Polish peasant farmer, who for more than a year after Poland's liberation paid his taxes "in kind," by supplying provisions and foodstuffs, now pays his levies in cash.

A recent decree relieved peasants from paying with foodstuffs which had caused much grumbling and discontent among the farmers who preferred to sell their produce for cash in the free markets.

THANK GOD FOR MUSCLE-RUB!

Advises every sufferer from Rheumatic—Arthritic—Sciatic—Neuritic Pains to try Muscle-Rub.

Here's the true story of a man who took treatments, used all kinds of remedies for his sciatic, neuritic pains without help. Helped in the slightest degree. Mr. Robert Jordan of Colon, Mich., suffered agony from pains in his hip—knee—calf of legs. The pain times was so bad that he couldn't sit down. He tried several different treatments, many different medicines, all of which did him no good. He couldn't work. Life was misery for him.

Then one day he saw an advertisement of Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. It used it as directed and in 3 days the pains was relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.

No wonder he advises every rheumatic sufferer to try Muscle-Rub for fast pain relief. Get a bottle today at Grays and all good drug stores.

Remember, Muscle-Rub is sold on this money back guarantee. If only half a bottle doesn't bring relief your druggist is authorized to return your money. —Adv.

WIDOW ACCUSED—In a sensational courtroom maneuver, a dark-haired young widow who accused a man as the slayer of her husband was herself charged with the killing. The widow, Mrs. Bertha Cote, shown at right, was stunned by the charge and pleaded "not guilty" to the slaying of her husband, Rene, last month in their Brockton, Mass., apartment. The dramatic turn in the case came when murder charges against Walter E. Steele, who had been held for weeks on evidence supplied by Mrs. Cote, were dismissed. Steele is shown with his mother in the other photo.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4 If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

An old farmer was standing near the main highway when a battered car came to a shuddering halt. The driver leaned out and asked, "Can you direct me to the Jones place?"

"What's that?" asked the farmer, cupping his ear. "I can't hear you."

"Where's the Jones place?" asked the driver a little louder.

"Speak up, man," grumbled the farmer. "I am slightly hard of hearing."

"I am lost," screamed the driver at the top of his lungs. "WHERE IS THE JONES PLACE?"

"Oh, no, thanks," said the farmer. "We already have one."

The driver gave up in disgust and resumed his trip down the road. About four miles down the line, he pulled up beside a woman standing in front of another farm house.

"Pardon me, lady," began the driver.

"Go on this road four miles more, and then turn left and there's the Jones place," she snapped. "I heard you the first time."

Fredericktown Merchant Dies; Rites Tuesday

FREDERICKTOWN — B. N. Scarbrough, 76, lifelong resident of Fredericktown, died Sunday at his home here after a brief illness.

Mr. Scarbrough, who operated a hardware business here for more than 25 years, was an active member of the Knights of Pythias and other fraternal organizations. He was a trustee of the cemetery association and a member of the Lions club.

Surviving are a son, Richard, who was associated with his father in the hardware store, and a sister, Mrs. Clara Hettinger, of Fredericktown.

Masonic and K. P. lodges will hold a memorial service at 8 p. m. today at the Meridith funeral home. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the funeral home, with Rev. G. O. Brown officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery.

* * *

SHARON LYNN FISHER

FREDERICKTOWN — Sharon Lynn Fisher, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fisher, of Chesterville, died Sunday at Mercy hospital in Mt. Vernon. The infant was born Friday.

Surviving, in addition to the parents, are the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Potts, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher, all of Chesterville.

Brief services were held at the grave side in Maple Grove cemetery at 11:30 a. m. today.

* * *

MRS. HATTIE NOBLE

ASHLAND—Mrs. Hattie Noble, 77, of Galesburg, Ill., died unexpectedly Sunday afternoon of a heart attack while visiting her daughter, Miss Katherine Noble, of 144 Race street.

The daughter, who is proprietor of the Adrienne Dress Shop here, is the only survivor.

The body was taken to the Denbow-Bear funeral home and will be sent from there to the Lindberg-First Funeral home at Galesburg. Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday with burial in Memorial park, in Galesburg.

* * *

CLYDE M. YOUNG

FREDERICKTOWN—Clyde M. Young, 72, died at his home here early today after an extended illness.

Surviving are his wife, Iva M. Young; two sons, Herbert and Hoy, both of Fredericktown, and one brother, Clarence R. Young, also of Fredericktown.

The body is at the Bolinger Funeral home, where services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday with burial in Forest cemetery.

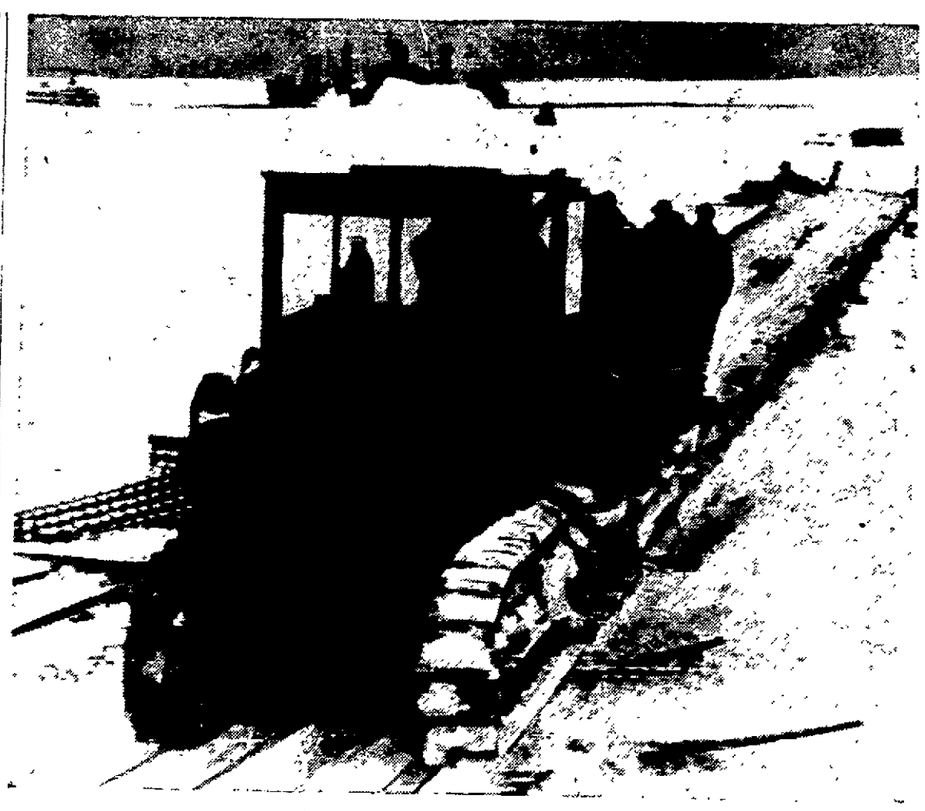
W. S. HETSLER

ASHLAND — William Sherman Hetsler, 79, a retired Ashland county farmer, died at his home, 1207 Myers avenue, Sunday night after a brief illness.

Born in Ashland county, Mr. Hetsler had lived in this vicinity all his life. He was a member of the Evangelical church and the Berea Sunday School class of that church.

Surviving are his wife, Mary; three daughters, Mrs. Frank Drushel, of Ashland; Mrs. Joseph Licking, of Rowsburg, and Mrs. Jesse Wise of Polk; two sons, Roy, of Loudonville, and Homer, of Elyria, and two brothers, Martin L., of Ashland, and Albert, of Polk.

Services will be held at 2:30 p. m Wednesday in the Evangelical church with Rev. S. S. Davis officiating. He will be assisted by Rev. H. T. Zackman of Findlay



A BULLDOZER pushes its way across the snowy wastes near Little America as it carries a construction crew back to work, following dinner aboard one of the ships in the background. The men are building a temporary camp before laying airstrips for the planes with the Byrd Expedition. They belong to Sea-Bees, famed for their construction work during the war. Official U. S. San Diego Cuts Army Red Tape, Gives Low-Cost Housing to Vets

By HAROLD KEEN
(Central Press Correspondent)

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Fifeen hundred veterans' families today have new homes of their own because the city of San Diego literally badgered the United States Army into selling it a camp three miles long, one-half mile wide, and containing 520 buildings.

Not only have homes risen from the "ruins" of Camp Callan, but the city, by driving an astonishingly hard bargain, has emerged with a handsome profit.

Surveying the virtually flattened area — which appears so much like an atomic bomb target that it is known as "Little Hiroshima"—Mayor Harley E. Knox recalls with grim satisfaction how seemingly red tape was unraveled by "what the government probably thought was our detestable persistence."

* * *

VETERANS WHO had stumbled over booby-trap technicalities in war surplus sales and had found their priorities to be mere hunting licenses for materials have been amazed at the ease with which they could buy entire structures, or the salvaged lumber when doing business with the city.

Last November, Camp Callan, commissioned early in 1941 as an anti-aircraft replacement training center, was declared surplus. For almost five years the Army had paid one dollar per annum to the city for its lease to the vast acreage—once a beanfield—on the picturesque Torrey Pines cliffs overlooking the Pacific.

Now the city, lumber-starved, saw in the abandoned buildings the answer to many a veteran's dream.

For weeks Mayor Knox and his aides pleaded, argued, begged and talked tough to crack the Washington bottleneck. The city was willing to pay $200,000 for all the structures, and to waive a lease requirement that the Army restore the grounds to their pre-war aspect.

* * *

LAST FEBRUARY the transaction almost was consummated. But there was a joker. The government was to get all net proceeds from sale of the materials, all dismantling and sales were to be supervised by the Civilian Production Administration, and all materials, had to be sold to veterans for homes of moderate cost.

"Nothing doing," said Knox. "We don't need another federal agency looking over our shoulders. And besides, how can ALL materials go into veterans' homes?" He pointed to three large steam boilers in the power plant. And a huge traveling crane in the machine shop. And hundreds of other items that could be used only in industries.

The city demanded full jurisdiction over, and profits from "Operation Caillan." A month later the Army yielded, and the chain reaction was immediate and phenomenal.

* * *

"COME AND GET IT!" the cry went out. Veterans by the hundreds swooped down on Camp Callan. They bid on buildings that could be moved away to their own lots. Inexperience and desperation brought fantastic offers voluntarily trimmed by the city. A high bid of $3,700 on a service building was knocked down to $1,000.

Structures too big to be moved were sold to veterans who did their own dismantling, with the help of wives, children and in-laws. Or the buildings were torn down by contractors for cost plus fixed fee—with the city keeping a stern eye on the cost—and a huge sales yard was established for salvaged lumber and scarce electrical and plumbing supplies, available only to veterans.

Messhalls and hospital wards were chopped into two and three bedroom homes costing from $1,175 to $1,500 each. The average barracks building, which had to be dismantled on the spot, sold for $800, and yielded 32,000 board feet of lumber, enough for three homes.

The city found buyers for buildings and materials of no use to veterans for homes. The main boiler plant was sold to a citrus packing house. Three chapels were purchased by churches. An exhibitor bought the outdoor theater.

* * *

TO MAKE SURE that Camp Callan did not prove one end of a black market funnel, veterans not only had to have their FHA "HH" priorities, but they were required to show building permits indicating exactly where they were moving their structure or lumber. Building inspectors followed up later to verify that a home was being erected.

An average two-bedroom unit moved to a lot costing between five and a thousand dollars could be converted into a pleasant home for three to four thousand dollars —a give-away price at current real estate values.

The last truckload of lumber soon will be hauled away from "Little Hiroshima" by a grateful veteran. And Mayor Knox is computing the profits to the city—an estimated two hundred thousand dollars above cost and operating expenses. This will be plowed right back into the land, possibly to beautify it into a park.

Candidate Loses $200 on Election

HAMILTON, Bermuda — (AP) — The Bermuda government is today $200 richer than before the bye-election for Pembroke parish. For the first time in Bermuda's history, a candidate for the House of Assembly failed to accumulate more than eight per cent of the total votes cast.

Under the Parliamentary Election Act each candidate must deposit $200, which is forfeited if the candidate does not poll eight per cent. The regulation was made to discourage too long a ballot.

WITH TASK FORCE FRIGID, ALASKA—Medium tanks, heading for the first mock battle in the army's Arctic maneuvers, roll across the Tanana river near Fairbanks on an improvised bridge built by placing logs in layers on the ice and pumping water on them until they freeze into a solid mass. This bridge is 60 inches thick. (AP Wirephoto)

Deafened People May Now Hear Clearly

Science has now made it possible for the deafened to hear faint sounds. It is a hearing device so small that it fits in the hand and enables thousands to enjoy sermons, music, and friendly companionship. Accepted by the Council on Physical Medicine of the American Medical Association. This device does not require separate battery pack, battery wire, case or garment to bulge or weigh you down. The tone is clear and powerful. So made that you can adjust it yourself to suit your hearing as your hearing changes. The makers of Beltone, Dept. 7727, 1450 West 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement that they will gladly send free descriptive booklet and explain how you may get a full demonstration of this remarkable hearing device in your own home without risking a penny. Write Beltone today. —Adv

EDITOR-ARTIST BREAKS RECORD

ALEXANDRIA, La.—Some artists live a lifetime to have nine one-man shows and few have had four exhibitions at one time, but Ralph Brewer, Alexandria newspaperman-artist, has done all this in one year.

Self-taught for 13 years, Brewer unveiled his work in November, 1945, at the Delgado Museum in New Orleans. Today he has oil paintings in New York, Los Angeles, St. Louis and Miami Beach galleries.

In addition, within 12 months after his inaugural at New Orleans, he had one-man shows under the auspices of Louisiana college, Pineville; Louisiana Art Commission, Baton Rouge; State Fair Exhibits building, Shreveport, and the Bunkie, La., Community Civic club.

A knife and brush floral and landscape painter in his spare time, he set a goal of starting or finishing one picture a day. Native of Bryan county, Ga., he worked on the Charleston, S. C., News and Courier, Macon, Ga., Telegraph, Athens, Ga., Banner, Augusta, Ga., Chronicle, Birmingham, Ala., News, and New Orleans States before coming to the Alexandria Town Talk as managing editor.

Taking up art as a hobby, he was persuaded by a fellow newspaperman, Meigs O. Frost, of the New Orleans Times-Picayune, to let him tell the world about his work. A committee of three New Orleans art critics saw his pictures and invited him to hold a one-man show at the Delgado.

"Since then things have been happening and I am bowled over," said the 45-year-old father of three sons, the eldest in the navy.

Snake Protecting Laws Get Ignored

GATLINBURG, Tenn. — (AP) — Poisonous snakes in the Great Smoky Mountains National park are protected by law, but you aren't likely to be prosecuted should you kill one.

That, says Park Naturalist Arthur P. Stupka, is the attitude the government takes toward a statute protecting all wild life native to the park. Timber rattlers and copperheads roam the area.

TRAP SHEEP

DENVER — (AP) — The Colorado game and fish department has completed transplanting of 32 mountain sheep from a herd of more than 800 in the Tarryall range near Colorado Springs to the high peaks above Georgetown. Director Cleland N. Feast said 32 was the largest number of the wild and shrewd animals ever captured in a single wire fence trap.

World War 1 Allies Tried to 'Fence' Bolshevism, Records Show

PEACE PARLEY PAPERS BARE FRENCH PLAN

Proposal Called for Strong Poland As Buffer State.

WASHINGTON— (AP) —A decision of World War I allies to try to erect a "barbed wire fence" around Russian Bolshevism was detailed Saturday night in a new volume of official minutes of the 1919 Paris peace conference published by the state department.

The records show that at a session of the international council of premiers at London, Premier Georges Clemenceau of France acknowledged that direct intervention had proven a costly failure and proposed the shift of policy.

It was approved by Prime Minister David Lloyd George of Britain, Foreign Minister Scialoja for Italy, and informally by American Ambassador John W. Davis Davis, however, was only an observer.

Set Three Aims.

As summed up by Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, Clemenceau's proposal was:

"1. A barbed wire fence, as it were, around Russia, within which the Allies should not interfere.

"2 To put an end to contributions of supplies and money for the purpose of upholding or re-establishing order in Russia.

"3 To build up Poland as a barrier against Russia and a check on Germany."

Clemenceau said the purpose, aside from preventing Russia from "creating trouble" outside the ring, was to "stop Germany from entering into relations with Russia, whether of a political or military character."

Lloyd George, in expressing full agreement, said Britain already had spent about $500,000,000 in Russia, mainly in support of the anti-Soviet forces of General Denikin.

In the debate the conference heard from Clemenceau that Winston Churchill, who was to become Britain's World War II leader, was "reputed to hold very strong views" on Russia and regarded Poland as "the left wing of Denikin's army"

Portal Pay Lawyer Denies Red Tinge

TOLEDO — Edward B Lamb, Toledo attorney who successfully argued the first portal-to-portal pay case before the U S Supreme Court, emphatically denied Saturday any communistic connection

In a telegram setting to Rep. J P. Parnell Thomas, (R) N. J., from Sun Valley, Idaho, where Lamb is relaxing, the Toledo attorney again volunteered to appear before any committee of congress to answer questions of senators or representatives.

FUTURE ROSY, SAYS REUTHER

CLEVELAND —(AP)— A rosy 1947 portrait of the automobile industry, in which customers will pay less for autos, and industrialists and unionists will reap greater dividends has been predicted by Walter P Reuther, international president of the CIO-United Auto Workers union.

"I predict we will get higher wages this year, industry will get higher profits and the consumers will be paying less for their cars," the dynamic red-head told 1,000 CIO-UAW officials at the group's three-day education conference and fair

"If the industry makes five million cars and trucks—and this is a conservative estimate this year —they will make one billion dollars in profits," said Reuther "If they make five and one-half million cars, they will make two billion dollars"

The union official declared the CIO-UAW intended to "increase purchasing power by getting wage increases without price increases . . . We are in the battle to get wage increases out of profits.

"In addition to higher wages, we are fighting for social security, an annual wage plan, health insurance and an old-age retirement plan," said Reuther, "industry will have to pay for it And why shouldn't they, since they pay to keep their machines under repair, they ought to pay to keep their workers in good health"

In an earlier address, Chester Bowles, former OPA administrator, predicted current weekly wages would be doubled by 1967, with America's work-week reduced to 30 hours. Bowles based his prediction upon 20-year cycles in American history since the Civil war

Flying Conditions Rough In Alaska, Says Air Commander

FAIRBANKS, Alaska — (AP) — Brig Gen. Frank E Everest, commander of the Yukon sector of the Alaskan Air Command, has announced "there isn't a single base in the Yukon sector that's entirely adequate for B-29 strategic operations"

The general added that "there is no adequate aircraft warning system existing in this area"

His sector comprises all northern Alaska. It does not include the small southwestern section, in which there is a large B-29 base at Anchorage. It also excludes the Aleutions, in which there are two more B-29 bases.

Gen. Everest, speaking to a group of news and radio correspondents at his headquarters at Ladd Field, said that his field was the only B 29 base in the Yukon sector and that a hill at one end of the runways constituted a menace to the heavy bombers when taking off with a full load of fuel and bombs

Heavy expenditures will be required, he said, to provide adequate bases and an effective aircraft warning system

Experiment A Success.

Friday an experiment was successfully conducted here which may prove a turning point in the development of the technique of aerial warfare in the Arctic

One of the greatest difficulties in the use of airplanes in this frigid region, with temperatures as low as 72 degrees below zero is getting a plane warmed up for starting

If a plane is not kept warm in a hangar—and under combat conditions there has never been enough hangar space to accommodate a large proportion of the planes used—it takes an hour to warm up a plane which has been standing outdoors.

Col George A. Walker, said that a jet propelled P-80 had been started without a moment's delay today when the temperature was minus forty-three. It was done by starting the aircraft with gasoline, then shifting to kerosene, which is its normal fuel

Once the "bugs" are taken out of the jet propelled plane, this new-found advantage of quick starting in frigid weather might make it the ideal Arctic fighter plane, Col. Walker said

Colonel Walker thinks the ultimate solution to cold weather operation will be development of airplane shelters which can be carried by air and set up in the field, to take the place of hangars Such shelters also are being worked on at Wright Field, he said.

Shelby Brothers Injured In Crash

SHELBY — Two brothers received minor injuries late Friday night when the automobile in which they were riding was in collision with a car driven by Howard Gosser, 11½ South street.

Ralph Bisol, Shelby, R D 1, who was driving a 1930 model car, told police he collided with Gosser's car when he attempted to make a left turn on Main street onto Broadway. Bisol and his brother, Charles, were treated at Memorial hospital and released. Gosser was not injured

OLDS ANNOUNCES 1947 RESTYLING

LANSING, Mich. —(AP)— Oldsmobile announced its new 1947 model automobiles Saturday, restyled to accentuate sleekness of line and incorporating what were described as all the mechanical improvements developed by the company's engineers during the last year

As in last year's program, the 1947 cars are being made in the 119-inch wheelbase "66" series; the 125-inch "76" and "78" series, and the 127-inch "98" series Six-cylinder models are powered with 100-horsepower engines and the eights with 110-horsepower.

Aluminum alloy pistons in the new cars are fitted with two compression and two oil control rings and full pressure lubrication to all engine bearings is provided

A "new and greatly improved" General Motors hydra-matic drive is announced as optional equipment.

Barclay On Bridge

THERE are times when the action of the other three players during the bidding makes them appear to show a greater total of strength than they could possibly have, in view of what you hold yourself. At such a time, you wonder who is telling a falsehood about his hand Vulnerability is usually a key to the answer, if one side is vulnerable and the other not The vulnerable side is probably telling the truth, and the opponents prevaricating because they are not taking too much risk and are striving to prevent a maximum score by the strong pair.

There North left it, and as a consequence a nice slam bonus was missed as twelve consecutive tricks were run The opponents' doubles had bluffed North and South.

The big question, during the post-mortem, was about which partner was to blame for failing to reach the slam. Clearly it was North.

After East's double, South could not very well redouble with his kind of hand, and it would have been pretty hard for him to jump from 1-Spade to 3-Hearts over the double while there was still the possibility of a rank misfit True enough, his mere 2-Hearts takeout of the adverse double sounded pretty weak But he denied that weakness by his action on the next round after North had bid 2-No Trumps over West's heart double. South's 3-No Trumps on that round indicated clearly to North that he had a hand of some value at No Trumps, including a rebiddable heart suit

Knowing now that South's hand was really pretty fair, North should at least have offered a mild slam invitation with 4-Diamonds, since his own hand was so much stronger than he had yet shown, containing seven-plus playing tricks In that situation, a 4-No Trumps by South would have been a weakness signoff, not a Blackwood. But he would have shown a fit with 5-Diamonds North thereupon could have gone to small slam in the suit if feeling conservative, or in No Trumps if he had eaten lots of eggs for breakfast

The answer on a bright warm January day is: "Yes, spring CAN be far behind."

Things may be better when more people resume the practice of "taking a job" instead of "accepting a position."

Can you imagine that! Akron is promoting such an obsolete thing as a "spelling bee"!—do some schools still teach spelling?

Move To Prevent Utility Strikes

IT IS becoming very generally recognized that some means must be found to settle labor disputes within the utility industry without strikes. A shutdown of utility services is a direct blow not only at a community's industries, but the health and life of the people.

A group of utility executives recently met with officials of all the principal unions represented in the industry, in a conference conducted by the U. S. conciliation service. And it looks as if the groundwork has been laid for model employer-employe relations in this vital field.

In the words of conciliation service official in charge, "Both management and labor in the utility industry have a basic responsibility to the citizens of the communities which they serve. The representatives of industry and labor who have been meeting, recognize that this responsibility requires every effort on their part to maintain industrial peace."

One of the most encouraging phases of the meeting was that both sides favored voluntary plans for settling disagreements, and were anxious to avoid damaging legislation that would place arbitration on a compulsory, government-dominated basis.

Youth No Bar To High Attainments

A RATHER frequent comment in connection with the resignation of William W. Enlow as service-safety director, is that he is "too young for such a big job," which raises the question of what can be reasonably expected of a capable youth at the age of 33—or in the 25 to 35 age bracket, for that matter.

It seems worth keeping in mind that Harold Stassen was elected governor of Minnesota at the age of 31 and served capably in that office. Not yet 40, Stassen's public record has been such as to bring him into prominence as a contender for the Republican presidential nomination next year.

New York's Governor Thomas E. Dewey also stands out for relatively youthful accomplishments, having been only 38 when he led the field on the first ballot for the presidential nomination in the 1940 Republican convention. He was elected district attorney of New York county at the age of 35, after several years of successful prosecution of top-notch criminals.

Then there was William Jennings Bryan, "the boy orator of the Platte", who made his first presidential race at the age of 36—only one year above the constitutional minimum of 35.

The real record for youthful attainment, however, remains with William Pitt, the English prime minister who was only 25 when he assumed office in 1784, and held it without interruption for seventeen years.

So it must be some other element, rather than age, that handicaps advancement or stands in the way of satisfactory service—and a study of traits that go into the making of success and failure should have value to those who are so fortunate as to be in the 21 to 35 age bracket.

'Land of Opportunity' For Al Capone

EXTENT of the publicity given the illness and death of Al Capone, notorious gangster, has mystified some readers, but is reasonably accounted for by the fact that Capone, like many other immigrants, found America "a land of opportunity," and that he became a top figure in the field into which he gravitated from his boyhood environment in New York slums.

It was as a youth of 20 that Capone, already schooled in underworld practices, and wide awake to the unlimited opportunities opened through channels of corrupt political chicanery in big cities (and some small ones), went to Chicago in 1919 as bodyguard for a gang leader. From then on his rise to power in Chicago's gangland was rapid, and at the age of 26 he "took over," crushed rivals, expanded rackets into new fields and attained millionaire status long before his 12-year reign was ended by the anti-climax of being sent to prison for income tax evasion.

The fact that Al Capone was a discreditable character reflects less upon him than upon public tolerance of the early environment which made such a career of crime a natural outcome. The same qualities of initiative, energy, enthusiasm and leadership which made Capone a top-notch figure in America's gangland could have brought him into prominence in some worthy endeavor—as has occurred with many others who came from a foreign land to find opportunity here.

But the environment which produces men of the Capone type is not confined to great centers of population, such as New York and Chicago—similar opportunities for the development of viciousness exist in many smaller communities . . . and it might be advisable to have an occasional check-up on even such an admirable city as Mansfield to learn the extent to which unlawful activities are being tolerated—and why.

Luxuries Mistaken For Necessities

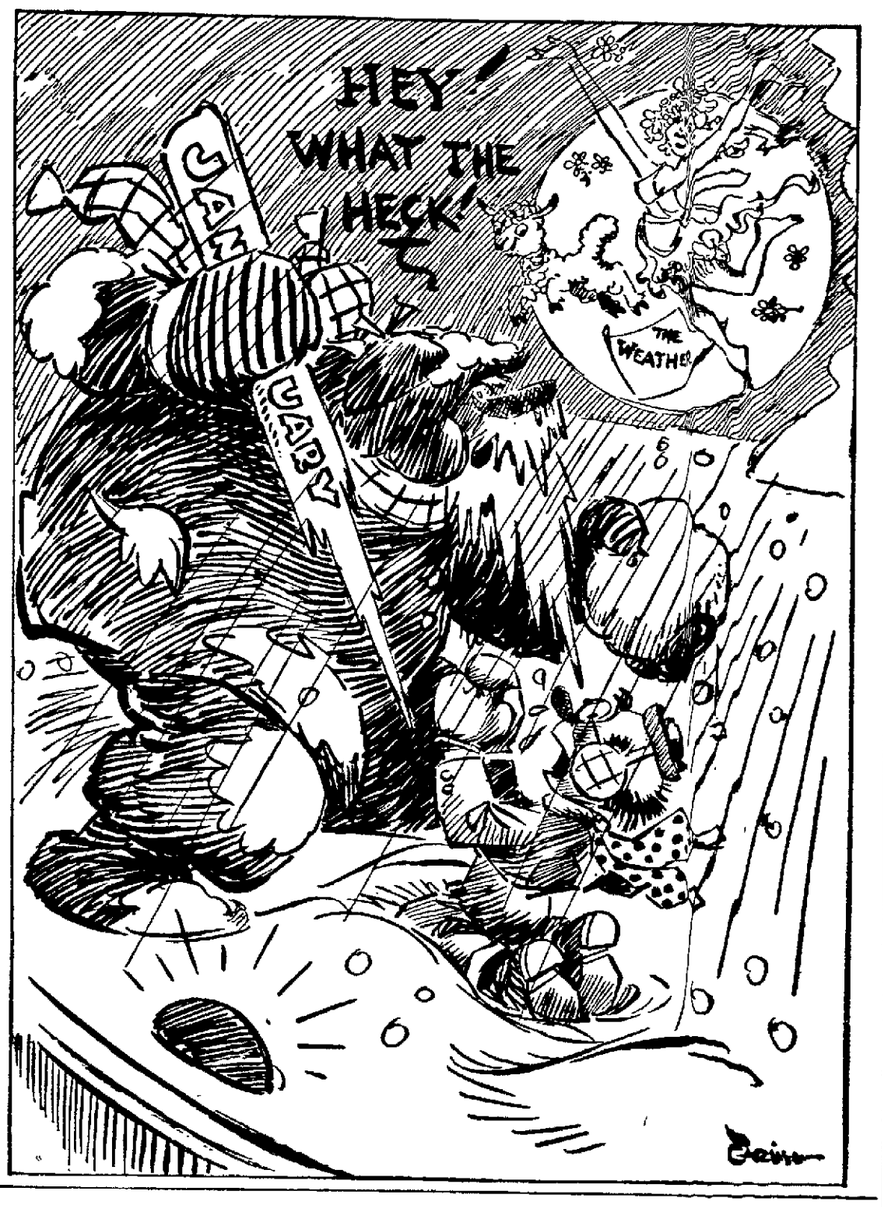
AN AUTHORITY on large-scale merchandising recently made this sage observation: "At the end of the first World war consumers seemed to have the money to purchase all the luxuries and then they complained they could not afford the necessities. That seems to be the situation today." He cites the case of a woman who recently bought a very expensive fur coat—and then complained bitterly at an increase in the price of soap which could not add more than five dollars a year to her living expenses.

There are signs that this "silk shirt" attitude is diminishing. A good many of the "anything-at-any-price" buyers are finally running out of cash, and others are beginning to realize that spendthrift policies are not good for either individuals or the nation.

It is to the credit of retail merchandising that, for the most part, it is not trying to encourage reckless spending—nor is it attempting to profit unduly by charging all the traffic will bear.

An Indiana congressman is firmly against removing the excise tax on lipstick—which he regards as an "unnecessary luxury"—just going to show what odd ideas a congressman may have.

CRABBING THE VILLAIN'S ACT



Revision of Labor Relations Act Viewed as Necessary First Move

By RAYMOND MOLEY

WITH new proposals for labor legislation in every day's headlines, the onlooker is likely to believe that revision of the Wagner Act is only one of the many tasks before congress.

But it should not be forgotten that the Wagner Act in itself has brought about a national demand for relief. Almost every inequity which moved people to vote for a change stemmed from that Act. Almost every current proposal for new laws could be satisfied by a Wagner Act revision. Our labor problem is a Wagner Act problem.

The Wagner Act, in its explicity provisions and in the countless decisions of the NLRB, has created not only a legal prison for management, but a potential one for labor.

Wise people pointed out, when the Act was passed, that labor would live to regret its voracious appetite for law. For what has made management a captive might, under certain conditions, make labor a captive, too.

Labor in a reaction may be "hoist with his own petard." The broad terms of the Act, with certain changes, could conceivably sweep away all that labor has gained in 30-odd years. The NLRB could, if its present tyrannical power were administered by enemies of labor, destroy the labor movement.

This situation illustrates the fallacy of Wagner and others when they established a partnership with government. The state is a faithless and dangerous protector. For governments change with fickle majorities. There is no tyranny like that of the majority.

Consequently, the wise, framers of the American Constitution conceived of law not as a means of benefaction and privilege, but as a means of keeping government from crushing the individual.

Messrs. Roosevelt, Wagner and others thought they knew better. The founding fathers, to these rulers of a brave new world, were old fogies. When Roosevelt told the press about "horse and buggy" days, the Wagner Act was before congress. Papa knew best: Government was the way to freedom. But this new doctrine was not new; it was the oldest deal in the world. It went back before the Constitution and Jefferson and Adam Smith and revived an all-powerful state. And now labor will scream when the state sues for a divorce.

The most comprehensive picture of what the Wagner Act means and what should be done about it is a small book, "Industrial Peace and the Wagner Act." Theodore R. Iserman is the author, and Leo Wolman has contributed some fine common sense in a foreword. Iserman points out specifically how the Wgner Act has promoted industrial w, not peace.

In parkular, Mr. Iserman points outhat there should be changes i the Act to limit strikes i the issues worth striking bout and to stop penalizingmployers when their employes ngage in unlawful strikes.

He conds that the board should no nger be investigator, prosecutor nd judge; that managerial emyes should be free to manage that workers should not be unized against their will, nor sld they be represented by peo they do not choose; that unfar union practices by unions shoul be defined and prohibited; an that, if necessary, monopolist union power should be curbed y a refusal of the NLRB to recognize any unit which incles employes of more than one aployer.

The Iserman program, if adopted in its entety, would be going too far. Bt his specification might well ovide a useful means of selecting hose aspects of the Act which y out for revision.

Farmer's Diary: "Forestry News."

"THE greatest single force for intelligent American forestry is scientific research. Already men have learned that a tree is far more than a few boards. Nature has compacted into a tree a magnificent package of cellulose, lignin and other chemical compounds. We know a little, but not much, about how to use them. The cellulose becomes paper and rayon. It can become alcohol and sugar. Competent authorities have declared that lignin, the cement that holds together the cells of cellulose, may well be the source of as much wealth as man has derived from coal tar. When someone finds out what lignin really is, and how to rearrange its molecules for human uses, some of the present problems in forestry will disappear. The future of forestry is not in legislation, but in the laboratory." . . . Wheeler McMillan.

"Winter is the best time to get productive returns from farm woodlands. A good supply of buzz wood can be had from relatively undesirable hardwood, beech and hickory, in some areas. Culling out the undesirable species while the trees are young will give more space and moisture to valuable species.

"Every farm needs repair lumber, and its stock pile can be maintained by utilizing good material from badly defective trees. Of course it is good business to sell the mature trees and those which have started to decay. A farmer can earn good wages by getting out his own logs during the winter.

"Separating the woods from the pasture with a few strands of barbed wire or other fence is one of the easiest ways to make a wood lot pay. Keeping out farm animals improves the woods, and open pasture provides more and better grazing for the animals."—K. D. McClurk, forester of Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

GENERAL MARSHALL says he will never become tangled in any fight for the presidency and could never be drafted for that job. Any man who isn't exempt because of flat feet and a punctured eardrum will become so after a couple of months as a secretary of state under present conditions, if you ask me.

The thing to remember is that plenty of men who said they could never be drafted found it all depended on the draft board.

Senator Butler Offers Resolution To Help Partner's Alcohol Plant

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — There was some irate backstage scrambling on Capitol Hill last week when Senator Glen Taylor, Democrat, of Idaho, stepped in to stop passage of senate resolution 5—an innocuous looking measure which would permit alcohol and syrup to be distilled in the same plant.

Several senators scurried across the floor to ask Taylor why he wanted to block the resolution, the most furious of them being stocky, likable Republican Hugh Butler of Nebraska. Butler was the author of the stymied resolution, but that only tells part of the story.

The whole story is that this special piece of legislation was being rushed through a congress, supposed to be busy with labor-tax budget problems, merely to benefit one alcohol plant in the entire United States.

And that one plant happens to be operated by Senator Butler's former partner plus other powerful Nebraska Republicans. Furthermore, Butler's old grain company has had an exclusive contract with the alcohol company, which he was trying to aid, to buy all the grain it consumes.

In other words, Butler's former partner helps to run the company, Butler's former grain-buying concern buys grain for the company, while Butler himself pushes legislation for the company on the floor of the U. S. senate.

The alcohol plant in question is the Farm Crops Processing Corp., of Omaha, which leased an $8,000,000 government-built plant to make wartime alcohol, and is rated as having done a good war job. However, the war job is over and it is now selling to Seagrams, Meanwhile, its war operations have been under scrutiny by the OPA and other government agencies because of its contract with the Butler-Welsh Grain company (Senator Butler's former firm) to purchase all its grain for distilling purposes.

Butler Firm Criticized.

Commenting on this in a special investigation report in 1945, the OPA stated:

"As the Butler-Welsh Grain company buys all of the grain, except malt, consumed by the Farm Crops Processing Corp., there is a tie-in of managements of the two companies through J. L. Welsh (ex-partner of Sen. Butler). This raises a question in our mind concerning the propriety as well as the necessity for the cost of a grain-buying intermediary in an operation of this size under cost-plus."

What the OPA report referred to was the fact that the Farm Crops company was operating on a cost-plus contract, and any additional amounts paid to the Butler-Welsh concern for buying grain, would be added to the government's total bill.

Continuing, the OPA report stated:

"In November 1940, Senator Butler was elected U. S. senator and shortly thereafter disposed of his and his deceased wife's interests to Welsh (his partner) and D. O. Aller in exchange for personal notes."

Questioned by this columnist as to whether he still owned any interest, direct or indirect, in his old grain firm, Senator Butler said that he had retained the privilege of reacquiring his stock under certain conditions but that he had no financial interest in the company. He also stated that in June, 1942 he had repurchased one-quarter of the company and given it to Doane college, Crete, Nebraska, for a scholarship fund.

He explained that D. O. Aller, who had taken over part of Butler's interest in the grain company, was almost an adopted son and had helped him with business matters for many years.

Company Profited.

The Butler-Welsh company holds a membership on the Denver, Omaha and Chicago grain exchanges, and operates grain elevators at South Omaha, Nebraska City, with two at Council Bluffs, Ia. According to the OPA report, the company made a net profit for the fiscal year 1944 of $194,889.

"How much the above profits constituted commission, grain profits and elevator earnings on grains handled for Farm Crops was not ascertained," continued the OPA report. "But it has been calculated that on purchases of 4,944,614 bushels of grain at 1 cent per bu. on corn, 1½ cents per bu. on wheat and rye, and 2 cents per cwt. on sorghums during 1944, the aggregate would be $63,532.18.

"At the instance of the accounting department," OPA reported, "the Omaha OPA office made an examination of Butler-Welsh grain transactions and reported that apparently there were no violations of the maximum price regulations. This did not, of course, have any bearing on the question of whether an officer may properly derive any personal benefit through procurement of distillery materials under cost-plus . . .

"According to our observation, it is unusual for grain buying in an operation of this size to be handled entirely through brokers."

That, however, was exactly what happened. Not only did the company of which Senator Butler's partner is an important officer buy grain through the old Butler firm, but on top of this, Senator Butler last week was virtually being the company's personal lobbyist on the senate floor, in attempting to pass a resolution permitting alcohol companies also to make syrup.

For years the treasury has banned manufacture of syrup in the same plant with alcohol, for fear syrup grains would be converted surreptitiously into alcohol. This ban was suspended during wartime; now Butler is demanding passage of a resolution suspending it for seven months more.

Meanwhile, treasury officials point out that the Farm Crops company is the only plant in the nation which also wants the right to make syrup, even though it is no longer on a war footing. (It now sells chiefly to Seagrams and the Glenmore company in Kentucky.) Officials also say that the company has not been using surplus potatoes, as claimed on Capitol Hill, but corn.

Voice of Isolationism Again Being Heard.

WASHINGTON — There's a grave danger facing the senate war investigating committee for which Republicans won a new lease of life by a close vote.

This is that the committee might fall into the course toward which some still active isolationists would like to direct it and which they are now advocating publicly and privately.

They would like to see it reach beyond its assigned and proper task of investigating war expenditures and contracts and to challenge the whole prewar foreign policy of our government.

Direction of the committee will require wisdom and caution and a sense of patriotic responsibility.

Significant but generally overlooked was the insidious note that crept into the speech of Senator Brooks (R., Ill.), the darling of the midwest isolationists, just before the vote was taken extending the committee's life.

"This committee," he said, "is special and unusual in every way. It is an outgrowth of the war. It was all-encompassing, and certainly was a necessary committee.

"When this country was led into war—and I say led into war advisedly—the war effort affected every household, every farm, every factory, every business, every hospital and every school in the nation."

And later in the same speech: "The Truman committee was of great importance to America. It called forth the best efforts of its members. It called upon them to lay aside the ordinary assignments on committees, in order that they might make known to the people of America, when their sons were dying, when farms were taken away from their owners for war purposes, when factories were being closed down, and the whole life of the nation thrown into uncertainty, whether there was dishonesty and corruption in connection with the war effort."

There, very cleverly, is disclosed the new isolationist line which is being echoed elsewhere, among other ways by dragging up Pearl Harbor again; the insistence on our being "led into the war," which was the old isolationist cry, now beginning to be heard again, and the recounting of the sacrifices of our people in direct relation with that.

It might be easy, for partisan political purposes, to play upon the grief of those who lost loved ones in the war, to exploit the natural postwar unrest and anxiety which still seems to grip our country.

It was thus exploited after World War I, with the result we now know so well—a political victory on "getting back to normalcy" and keeping out of the League of Nations, and the subsequent retreat into isolationism.

This time we at least have started out differently and have laid the groundwork for international co-operation, thanks in the first instance to Franklin D. Roosevelt, whom they have villified so since his death, and, in the second instance, to co-operation of Republican leaders with vision.

But the full victory is not yet won. The isolationists are busy again. Already one of the keystones of our international policy of co-operation on the economic level, our reciprocal tariff program, is under attack. Economic co-operation is just as important as political. It will be tested in other ways, among them, economic aids to Europe, including loans.

Communist Intrigue Rampant In America.

WASHINGTON — In Canada there is in progress the trial of one of the last of those accused of conspiracy in the amazing plot to give secret information to agents of the Soviet Union. The man on trial, Henry Harris, is one of the small fry charged with being a go-between for the principals in the plot.

Here is the essence of the democratic way of life. Here is the supreme contrast between the totalitarian state and a society grounded in the fundamental human freedoms.

In Soviet Russia, on the basis of the evidence found against these plotters by an official commission, they would all have been shot out of hand.

In democratic Canada, each has been given a trial, and six of the defendants have been acquitted. One, David Shugar, was acquitted although the royal commission reported, on the basis of extensive evidence and examination: "We are of the opinion that Shugar not only agreed to communicate such information (of a secret and confidential nature) but that the evidence before use shows that he did so communicate."

The commission's report, 733 printed pages, is an extraordinary document. Dispassionately, without rhetoric or emotion, it presents an overwhelming mass of evidence to show how Canadian citizens were so perverted that they betrayed every oath of loyalty and duty. It shows how Soviet agents, using the cloak of diplomacy in the Russian embassy in Ottawa, worked incessantly to subvert Canadians to their purposes.

Only by chance was this network of agents uncovered. Only because a cipher clerk in the embassy, Igor Gouzenko, could no longer endure the duplicity of his position were authentic Soviet documents brought to light. Gouzenko's courage almost cost him his life when agents broke into his apartment in the middle of the night.

When Gouzenko first went to the Canadian authorities with his story, the suggestion was made that he be turned over to our FBI for security reasons, and be permitted to make the story public on our side of the border. Gouzenko emphatically rejected this suggestion, saying he felt he would be in far more danger from assassination by Soviet agents in this country than in Canada.

Many of the trails uncovered by the royal commission led into the United States. Sam Carr, a long-time Canadian Communist who was revealed as one of the chief under-cover agents, hid in Philadelphia from 1940 to 1942, when he returned to Ottawa.

When the plot became known, Carr escaped. Since then, he has been reported in Paris, Stockholm and Moscow. One of the minor phases of the plot centered in efforts to get a false Canadian passport for a very important Soviet agent in Los Angeles.

And repeatedly in the documents from the Soviet embassy, there were references to individuals and places in the United States—links in the world-wide chain.

Beyond doubt the network of Soviet espionage in this country is far more extensive than in Canada. If it can be uncovered at all, short of the kind of disclosure made by Gouzenko, it can only be done by a thorough, persistent, trained agency such as, say, the FBI.

Canada is a democracy that has made real progress toward the good life for all men. In the face of this sinister intrigue, Canada has preserved the true values of a free society.

SENATE FAVORS BUSINESS STUDY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The well-disciplined senate Republican majority sent a new special small business committee on its way Saturday wtih $50,000 to spend in the next eight months.

The GOP leadership emerged from its 46 to 42 victory somewhat battle-scarred by the bludgeoning of Senator Tobey (R-NH), but only four Republicans joined him in voting against creation of the group under chairmanship of Senator Wherry (R-Neb.)

Tobey protested in vain before the final vote late Friday that the special committee was a second instance of tossing "lollipops" to senate "subleaders" Wherry and Brewster (R-Me.)

Brewster is chairman of the special senate war investigating committee, recreated after another battle earlier in the week. Most Democrats and some Republicans claimed the only purpose of extending the committee's life was to give the Maine Republican a chairmanship.

Tobey contended the functions of the small business group should be left to the banking committee which he heads.

He said his party's leaders—and he named Senators Taft (Ohio), Vanderberg (Mich.) and White (Me.)—were "running the train off the tracks" by insisting upon the special committees. Taft heads the GOP steering committee, Vandenberg is presiding officer and White majority leader.

Senator Taft was away from the senate and other Republican leaders made no direct reply to Tobey.

KITTY EXPLAINS

There's nothing complicated, queer,
But explanation will make clear.
—Old Mother Nature.

"When my eyes and my ears tell me a thing is so it must be so. My eyes alone might be fooled, or my ears alone might be fooled, but not both. So now I know," said Peter Rabbit.

"What is it you know?" asked Kitty the Catbird.

"That you are really you," replied Peter.

"Mew," said the Catbird. "I believe you are right, Peter. Yes, sir, I believe you are right. I feel like myself, and I look like myself, I must be myself, though I've known other people to think differently." Peter was startled by the scream of a Hawk and looked about hastily. Kitty chuckled. Peter looked a little foolish.

"Why not? Why did you come back?" demanded Peter.

"That wasn't too bad," said Kitty the Catbird. "I don't do it as well as Sammy Jay does, but you are not the first person I have fooled with it. But I am really myself, whatever others may think. I am not a Cat even if I can mew." He did mew and it sounded very much as if Black Pussy was right there in the dear old Briar-patch.

"Anyway I am glad it really is you even if I don't see how it can be, and I don't," said Peter.

"Why don't you?" asked Kitty.

"Because you are supposed to be 'way, 'way down where it is always summer," replied Peter. He meant Central America.

"But you see I'm not," chuckled Kitty.

"Why not? Why did you come back?" demanded Peter.

"I didn't come back; I didn't go," explained Kitty.

Peter's eyes opened a little wider. "But you haven't been around!" he cried.

"Not often here, but not far from here," said Kitty.

"Where?" cried Peter.

Kitty the Catbird pretended not to hear this, and little Mrs. Peter, who had been listening, spoke. "I've known for some time that he hadn't gone south. He has been over here before. If you stayed at home more you might know more, Peter Rabbit," said she. Mrs. Peter would keep Peter at home in the dear old Briar-patch all the time if she could.

"Why didn't you go as usual?" Peter wanted to know.

"I hurt a wing. It didn't bother me in short flights around here but I knew it couldn't possibly take me on that long flight. One must have strong wings to fly as far as we Catbirds go to spend the winter. So I simply stayed," explained Kitty.

"But you couldn't. I mean, how could you?" Peter persisted.

"Here I am," was all Kitty said to that.

"Did Mrs. Kitty stay too?" Peter asked.

"If she did I haven't seen her," replied his gray-coated neighbor "There was nothing the matter with her wings. She had nothing to stay for."

"Aren't you lonesome?" Mrs. Peter asked.

"No, not a bit," replied Kitty flatly.

"Perhaps she is," said Mrs. Peter.

Kitty shook his head. "She does not even know I'm not down there," said he.

"Why doesn't she?" cried Peter and Mrs. Peter together.

"Because she left early, before I would have thought of starting had my wing been strong. What is more, we wouldn't have stayed together if we had started together When we have started the last of the children out in the Great World she goes her way and I go mine. We find that much the best way. Then we don't get tired of each other," replied their feathered visitor.

Peter looked thoughtful. "Perhaps you have something there," said he.

Delta Theta Tau Chapter Honors Eight Rushees

EIGHT rushees were honored Saturday afternoon by Zeta Rho chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority at a luncheon held at the Sky club.

The long table at which the guests and members were seated, was centered with an arrangement of white pompons and greenery which carried out the colors of the sorority. A corsage of white pompons marked the place of each of the guests who were: Mrs. Fred Lewis, Miss Jean Kelly, Mrs. Richard Porch, Mrs. Joan Smith, Mrs. Rupert Cox jr., Mrs. Jack Miller, Miss Eileen Tashler and Mrs. Robert Fichter.

Following the luncheon Mrs. Ralph A. Hanno, president, introduced Miss Evelyn Timmons who presented a history of the organization.

Bridge prizes were won by Miss Margaret Hall, Mrs. Wayne Wright and Mrs. Cox.

Hostesses were Mrs. Hanno, Mrs. Joseph Denig, and Mrs. Eldon Johnson. An out-of-town guest present was Mrs. Albert Allen of Wooster.

The next regular meeting of the group will be held Feb. 4 at the clubrooms.

MRS. SCHROPP

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold J. Schropp who were married Jan. 18 in the Main Street Evangelical church are residing with the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Goff, 32 West Arch street. Rev. Willard J. Shawk performed the ceremony uniting the former Miss Doris Goff and Mr. Schropp, son of Mrs. Esther Schropp, Mansfield R. D. 3. The bride, attired in a beige suit with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and gardenias, was attended by her cousin, Miss Patricia Goff. Irvin Schropp was his brother's best man. A reception was held at Skippy's Supper club. Both Mr. and Mrs. Schropp attended Mansfield Senior high school. Mr. Schropp, a veteran of two and a half years in the U. S. Navy, is employed at the Ohio Brass company. (Photo by Charlton)

Johnson-Stenhouse.

MILLERSBURG—Mr. and Mrs. Nels Johnson of Benton announce the marriage of their daughter, Marjorie Jane, to James Stenhouse, son of Mrs. Anna Stenhouse, Millersburg, in a closed ceremony performed by the Rev. Jesse Young, pastor of the Presbyterian church, on Jan. 14.

Attending the couple were Miss Patricia Johnson, sister of the bride, Earl Shoup jr., and David Marr.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The couple left for a trip to Louisville, Ky., and have now returned to make their home in Millersburg.

Mr. Stenhouse is employed at the Economy grocery. He spent many months in the U. S. Army and saw much foreign service.

Georgina Watt Feted Saturday At McLean Home

Honoring Miss Georgina Watt, who will sail Feb. 20 on the Queen Elizabeth for a visit to Scotland, was the party given Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson McLean, 250 Sheridan avenue, with whom she has made her home, entertained 42 relatives and friends for a social evening.

The group presented Miss Watt with many lovely farewell gifts. Singing and dancing were the diversions. Music was furnished by Fred Holdsworth, William Jackson and William McCartney.

Out-of-town guests were present from Cleveland, Akron, Shiloh and Shelby. At a late hour a luncheon was served buffet style with a centerpiece of pink and white carnations and snapdragons.

Junior Auxiliary Plans Party For Valentine Day

The American Legion Junior auxiliary met Saturday afternoon at the Legion home with Mrs. Howard Neuman, senior councilor, Miss Charlotte Lemley, junior councilor and Miss Jean Buell, assistant councilor in charge.

Five dollars was voted to the March of Dimes. A birthday party was held for those members with birthdays in January. Miss Margaret Lemley was chairman of the refreshment committee.

The next meeting will be Feb. 8 at 2:30 p. m. and will be a Valentine party.

CORRECTION

The photo of Miss Beverly Woods in Sunday's News-Journal, was taken at the Charlton studio. It incorrectly was identified as a Perez studio photo.

TWO MANSFIELD GIRLS, who have resumed their studies at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., following the Christmas holidays, which they spent at their homes, are Miss Nancy L. Bond, left, and Miss Bettie Gibson, right. Miss Bond, a member of Tau Sigma Tau, honorary art sorority, is also a member of the Independents organization. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bond, 36 Sherman avenue. Miss Gibson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Gibson, is a member of Sigma Gamma Gamma, honority music sorority, and of Theta Alpha Epsilon, honorary dramatic sorority, and has taken an active part in dramatic productions at the college.

Attendants, Date Named By Ilene Dysart, J. R. Bistline

MISS ILENE DYSART has announced her wedding date and attendants for her marriage to Jack Richard Bistline, Feb. 2 at the Mayflower Congregational church. The open church ceremony will take place at 3:30 p. m. with Rev. A. F. Lindbeck officiating.

Miss Dysart has chosen her sister, Betty, as her maid of honor with Miss Dorothy Kindinger of Crestline, a roommate of Miss Dysart's at Ohio university, and Miss Ruth Gerber as bridesmaids.

* * *

Miss Elaine Guiher, Ruth avenue, entertained at a miscellaneous shower Saturday in honor of Miss Dysart's approaching marriage.

The centerpiece of the dessert table consisted of an entire miniature bridal party. The bride and groom, bridesmaids and ring bearer were clustered about a miniature altar.

MRS. KREINBIHL

The ceremony uniting Miss Betty Mae Rickett and William J. Kreinbihl was performed Jan. 4 by Rev. William Conci in the parsonage of the St. Peter's Catholic church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Rickett, Belle Center while the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Kreinbihl, South Franklin. (Photo by Perez).

Ulmer-Snavely.

BUCYRUS — Mrs. Elda Luella Ulmer of Sulphur Springs and Oliver J. Snavely, Bucyrus, were united in marriage Saturday morning at 11:45 in First Church of Christ parsonage. The Rev. Weaver J. Keener read the single ring ceremony. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Wanamaker.

The couple will reside at Mr. Snavely's home at 621 South Poplar street.

Mr. Snavely is a janitor at Maplecrest, King's Daughters home.

The flat-chested girl will do well to avoid tight fitting blouses. She should wear shirred bodices, vestees, ruffles, jabots and fabrics with crispness and body.

DOCTORS WARN CONSTIPATED FOLKS ABOUT LAZY BILE

IT IS SAID constipation causes many human discomforts—headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness being but a few. BUT DON'T WORRY—

For years a noted Ohio Doctor, Dr. F. M. Edwards, successfully treated scores of patients for constipation with his famous Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now sold by druggists everywhere.

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful! They not only gently yet thoroughly cleanse the bowels but ALSO pep up lazy bile secretion to help digest fatty foods. Test their goodness TONIGHT without fail! 15¢, 30¢. Follow label directions. All drugstores. —Adv.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

Miss Midnight's Diary—FRIDAY To the Waldorf for Morton Downey's opening at the Wedgwood Room—a triumphant demonstration of how to hold an audience in an Irishman's palm. What an entertainer that Downey is! He has pace and style, humor and sentiment, and an uncanny sense of singing exactly what the people want to hear—songs like "That Old Feeling" and "More Than You Know," that makes everyone in the room sigh "aah!" at the first notes. He is a modest performer, too, which adds to his charm. Just sits there quietly, crooning into the spotlight, and now and then, during an Irish number meant for laughter sending the piano a few inches into the air with a jerk of his knee.

For once at a singer's opening there were more friends in the audience than song-pluggers. Morton must have felt at home. Smiling Eddy Duchin smiled from a ringside table. Carrie Munn's Grecian gold coiffure bobbed on the dance floor at rumba-time, Toots Shor's foggy bass could be heard 'way over the music, and Steve Hannagan (who looks a little undressed these days without Annie Sheridan on his arm) provided another touch of green. Even Sherman Billingsley was easily coaxed out of his Stork Club for the occasion. His appearance drew a round of applause from the customers and a bottle of champagne from Ted Saucier, just to make him feel at home.

Morton has been singing on and near Broadway for a good many years, but his voice still sounds fine. He doesn't smoke or drink. Maybe that's why.

SATURDAY: I've said it before and I'll say it again, New York is full of strange and wondrous things, both big and small. On our way to dinner at Lillian and Hubie Boscowitz' Turtle Bay duplex, we passed a little hole-in-the-wall antique shop on 49th street quite near Third. It was closed, but a single light burned inside and a little plump man sitting in the window smiled and beckoned to us to come in. He looked vaguely like Peter Lorre. He unlocked the door and we entered and he pointed to a parrot cage, with a green bird in it, next to a shelf on which a portable radio played loudly. "He just asked me to turn on the radio," he said of the parrot. "He likes music."

He motioned gently toward a kind of cash drawer that was slightly pulled out of a counting table, and peering inside we saw another parrot sitting sleepily like a puffed-up mother hen. "She is hatching three eggs," he said proudly. "She is cross and they fight."

He shook his head. "How they order me around! They scream Don't forget the coffee!' I don't drink coffee myself, but I make it every morning for them. They drink it out of a spoon and they never spill a drop."

We must have looked dubious, for he reached down and picked up a spoon, filled it full of earth which he keeps in a box, and handed it to the father parrot sitting on his perch. The parrot took it in his right claw, balanced it perfectly, and ate from it as daintily as a debutante at the Ritz.

As we left the little man said, "I see a lot of rich people and they don't know how to be happy. I have these birds and they pass the time for me. I am contented."

MONDAY: To the grand ballroom of the Waldorf (I feel as if I'd spent the week at the Waldorf, and I keep looking around for Walter Pidgeon and Van Johnson) for the dress rehearsal of the March of Dimes fashion show. It was a rainy afternoon, and Arlene Whelan came in boots and Helen Hayes arrived with what looked like soft plastic bandages on her feet (they were something called "Rain Deers," she admitted with a slight choke) and Penelope-Dudley Ward, the fragile beauty of "Lady Windemere's Fan," had all her hair tucked under a piece of black headgear that went under her chinn like a wimple. Only Clifton Webb, beautifully tailored even in dampness, managed to look really fashionable.

Clifton who has been carrying on in "Present Laughter," with his famous aplomb despite the circumstances that he has not felt at all well for months, started taking liver shots some time ago and ever since has been busily selling the idea to all his friends. Helen Hayes was one who succumbed in the face of his enthusiasm and started taking the injections. "Do they really make you feel better?" I asked her.

"Oh, they're wonderful!" she said. "I feel full of vigor and vim." Her voice dropped a little. "Except once in a while I forget I've taken them. Then I feel terrible."

Willowy Lenora Corbett breezed around the ballroom happily announcing that she was wearing a gown the neckline of which would make Jane Russell's traditional costume seem prim, and that further attention was to be called to its depth by a necklace hung with 18 or 20 marquise diamonds in graduated sizes.

"Don't you love it?" she said, fingering the hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of jewels. "I call it What To Do With Your Old Engagement Rings."

If you can't give your children their own playroom why not introduce bunk beds to their bedroom so that more floor space can be allowed.

Beverly Jean Crosby Becomes Bride Of Thomas Baker Saturday Evening

Miss Beverly Jean Crosby, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Crosby, 324 Bowman street, and Clifford Crosby, McElroy road, exchanged nuptial vows with Thomas L. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Baker, 176 Glessner avenue, Saturday evening at the home of the bride's mother. Rev. Guy F. Hartman, pastor of the United Brethren church, read the service before the improvised altar banked with tall baskets of snapdragons, gladioli and chrysanthemums. Lighted candelabra were on either side of the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Crosby wore a formal gown of pale peach lace with a finger tip length veil. She carried a white lace handkerchief and wore a corsage of peach and white glads. Her jewelry consisted of a heart-shaped gold necklace with a diamond center, a family keep-sake.

Mrs. Harry Baker, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a powder blue satin formal and a corsage of pink and white carnations. Harry Baker, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

Mrs. Crosby wore a black dress trimmed in blue with black accessories and a corsage of chrysanthemums. Mrs. Baker, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a print dress with black accessories and wore a corsage of white chrysanthemums and pink snapdragons.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and wedding luncheon served. A bridal cake, centered with miniature bride and groom, decorated the table. White tapers and pink roses also graced the buffet table.

The couple will reside at the Bowman street address for the present. Mr. Baker served three years in the navy.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, Jan. 28.

A shrewd grasp of events or opportunities suddenly presented, should lead on to high achievement and good fortune. Travel, change, romance and fresh fields of operation, in connection with new associates or agreement, are likely to bring fond hopes and wishes closer into the picture. Major objectives are in sight if acumen, innovation and the discreet selection of co-workers be enforced. Take care not to tangle with the public or higher-ups. Romance may be accented, surprising and thrilling, but choose wisely.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves launched into a year of opportunity, surprising, unexpected and unpredictable. But romance and adventure are in the air, with change and thrilling companionship, both in business and in sentimental relations. But choose such with discretion, lest there be entanglements with the wrong people. Special skills go far toward a realization of cherished hopes and wishes. A time for prudent choice.

A child born on this day is blessed with much cleverness and ingenuity, and should enjoy a romantic career. It should be cautious as to associates.

U. S. Congress, Ohio Assembly Study Tax Problems

HOUSE CONFERS ON SUBSTITUTE FOR 20% SLASH

New Proposal Would Benefit Low Income Groups Most.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A graduated tax reduction plan—giving greatest relief to low income groups — was studied by house Republican chiefs today as a substitute for the pending bill for a flat 20 per cent cut on all incomes up to $302,000 a year.

A prominent Republican suggested a sliding scale ranging from a 20 per cent cut to the lowest income groups to 12 per cent on the higher brackets. He said this would give the greatest percentage cut to those who need it most.

Congress began a busy week with these developments:

1. Four Republican senators met to complete a bill that would authorize an immediate 15 or 20 per cent increase in rent ceilings and terminate all controls Dec. 31 or April 30, 1948.

Threat of Recession.

2. Sen. Alexander Wiley, R., Wis., warned that pending portal-to-portal pay suits were increasing the threat of a business recession. He urged prompt passage of legislation to outlaw the suits and remove "this spreading fear that is paralyzing all industry."

3. Four house appropriations subcommittees began hearings looking toward reductions in President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget for the fiscal year starting July 1. Congress must set an expenditures ceiling by Feb. 15. Republican leaders hope it will be $3,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 lower than the president's estimate.

4. Verbal fireworks were in store as senate members of the joint-atomic energy committee opened hearings on Mr. Truman's five appointments to the atomic energy control commission. Sen. Kenneth McKellar, D., Tenn., denounced David Lilienthal, the commission's chairman-designate, as an advocate of "Stalinism" and asked the committee to reject him.

Action Likely Wednesday.

5. Lynn R. Edminister, vice chairman of the U. S. tariff commission, assured uneasy congressmen that American interests will not be tossed "recklessly to the wolves" under the administration's lower tariff plans. His statement came as some Republicans in the house and senate mapped plans to restrict or suspend the reciprocal trade program.

The first tax bill of the new congress comes up in the house Wednesday and is expected to pass readily. Requested by President Truman, the $1,130,000,000 revenue measure would extend indefinitely the war-increased excise tax rates on such things as furs, jewelry, transportation and theater tickets.

Speaker Joseph W. Martin, R., Mass., said the second major bill before the house probably would be a proposed constitutional amendment to limit any president to two four-year terms. Chairman Earl C. Michener, R., Mich., said his house judiciary committee probably would have the measure ready for action next week.

HANDSOME—Logan Morris, 62, a hand on the Champie ranch at Castle Hot Springs, near Phoenix, competed in a contest to determine Arizona's most handsome cowboy.

Two Youths Face Charge of Assault

BUCYRUS — Charged with assault with intent to rape, John Long, 18, of Crestline, and a 17-year-old companion, were held in county jail yesterday following a hearing in Mayor A. P. Sonner's court at Crestline.

Long was bound to the grand jury under $1,000 bond and the younger youth was turned over to juvenile authorities. The charge was filed by a Crestline girl.

Traffic Violators Warned In Galion

GALION — A crusade against traffic violations was underway today in Galion as Police Chief James L. Walker announced that 10 motorists were warned Friday for failing to stop for traffic lights and stop signs. Three traffic tickets were issued Saturday.

Chief Walker also announced two-hour parking between six a. m. and 12 midnight will be enforced on the east side of South Market street between the Erie railroad tracks and Parson street.

GETS UNION POST

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Robert G. Pollock, union bargaining representative at the Ohio Bell Telephone company, Friday night was elected president of the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers, an affiliate of the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

STATE SOLONS HOPE TO HAVE BRIEF SESSION

Legislature Prepares to Open Discussion on Bonus.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The Ohio legislature begins a fourth week of deliberations tonight with tax economy and the soldier bonus as major problems. The sessions may provide an answer to the question of how long the 97th general assembly will last.

Although 131 bills and 42 resolutions have been dumped into the legislative hopper, little has actually been accomplished to date other than organization. However, committee hearings—the real down-to-earth work of the solons—begin this week.

The solons optimistically began their sessions three weeks ago with hopes of winding up their affairs of state by May 1—despite belief of most legislative correspondents that it would be June 15 or July 1 before sine die or final adjournment.

Just how fast things will go will be indicated by the speed with which the committees function. They must avoid prolonged hearings if the May deadline—or any date approaching it—is to be met.

Hearing Scheduled.

Major hearing of the week scheduled to date is that tomorrow of the senate military affairs committee, which will begin hearings on soldier bonus proposals.

Actually, the proposals are in the form of resolutions, since a constitutional amendment — requiring the approval of the voters —is necessary to issue the 325 to 500 million dollars worth of bonds to finance a soldier bonus. If the legislature approves a bonus resolution by three-fifths vote of both houses, the measure will be submitted to the people in November.

The senate will conduct a "business as usual" session tonight, although the house will hold only a skeleton session, with no new bills expected. The lower chamber has yet to schedule committee hearings on the four bonus proposals submitted to it.

Sets Deadline.

The house has established a deadline of February 10 for the submission of bills, which means another flood of measures this week. The senate, however, permits new bills to be introduced right up to the day of adjournment.

The biggest problem facing the solons is one of adjusting—new spending demands to Governor Herbert's plea for economy in government. More money is certainly going to be provided for schools, local governments and state employes, most observers believe. How much probably will await two things—the forthcoming overall report by State Tax Commissioner C. Emory Glander, expected within the next few days, and the biennial budget, which Finance Director Herbert Defenbacher will labor over for weeks to come.

Flood of Bills.

Pending these two reports, the flood of financial measures already introduced or which will be tossed in the hopper probably will remain pending. They include bills to cut the sales tax, increase funds to schools and local governments, raise salaries of state workers, or to vacate certain state fields of taxation to make them available for levies by local governments.

Other bills already introduced, or which certainly will be, call for labor union regulation, a fair employment practices committee, strip mine regulation, a unified conservation department, county-wide zoning, revision of the state liquor monopoly, an expanded highway system including a possible turnpike commission, and expanded public health and welfare facilities.

In all, Governor Herbert suggested a 17-part legislative program in his legislative message a week ago. Bills covering—fully or partially—11 of those subjects have been introduced in one or both houses, but the only measure actually enacted into law was the 109-million dollar partial appropriations bill, providing funds for state operation until July 1.

County Fair Board To Meet In Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — Crawford county commissioners will meet with the county fair board members Tuesday to take first steps toward planning for a 1947 county fair. The meeting was called by Walter J. Michael, president of the fair board.

Crawford county has been assigned the first seven days of September for its fair, which will be the first to be held since the grandstand was destroyed by fire in 1940. The county fairgrounds was in use as a military camp during the war.

Richland County to Observe 66th Anniversary of Christian Endeavor

SHELBY CHURCH WILL ENTERTAIN AT CONVENTION

Elaborate Program Planned For Mid-Winter Meet.

SHELBY—The 66th anniversary of the founding of Christian Endeavor will be celebrated by the Richland county union at its annual mid-winter convention next Sunday at the Evangelical United Brethren church here.

The national organization was founded on Feb. 2, 1881, by Rev. Francis E. Clark at the Williston Congregational church in Portland, Me. The Richland county union was not organized until Oct. 4, 1895, at a meeting held in the First Presbyterian church here.

J. E. Fenner of Shelby was elected as the first president for the county organization. Heading the county organization at the present time is Miss Hazel Mitchell of Shelby.

In keeping with the anniversary program, members of Richland county's alumni association will be invited guests at the convention and will take a special part on the supper program.

Rev. Leo A. Keil of Canal Winchester, pastor of David's Evangelical and Reformed church there, will be the principal speaker on the evening program which starts at 7 p. m. His subject will be "From Introverts to Extroverts."

Musical Program Planned.

The convention will open with registration at 2:30 p. m. in charge of Mr. and Mrs. John Gray of Shelby. The Berry Sisters of Galion will lead the singing. Other special music will be furnished by the A. M. E. Mitchell chapel of Mansfield. A play will be presented by the Ganges society.

Awards will be presented during the evening program by Miss Mitchell. The attendance award is held now by the Ganges society. The registration award is held by the Lexington union.

Presiding during the afternoon will be Miss Ruth Waddington of Shelby, high school union secretary. During the evening session, Mrs. Charles McKellogg of Shelby, convention chairman, will preside.

Others serving on the convention committee include Mrs. Gray, Miss Martha Jean Shook, Miss Mitchell, Miss Emma Beck, of Mansfield, and Miss Geneva Craig.

HEADS C. E. UNION — Miss Hazel Mitchell, of Shelby, is president of the Richland county Christian Endeavor union, which next Sunday will observe the 66th anniversary of the founding of the national organization.

QUAY NAMED DIRECTOR

GALION — Matthew W. Quay, Galion druggist, has been named a director of the Galion Building and Loan Association. He fills a vacancy made by the recent death of C. F. Unckrich. The position of vice president of the association, which Mr. Unckrich also held, will be filled at the next meeting.

SHELBY P. T. A. MEETS

SHELBY — The High School Parent-Teachers association will meet today at 8 p. m. at the high school auditorium for its regular meeting.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs it contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Shelby Country Club Elects Morris Third Term President

SHELBY — Mark Lowmiller and Gerald Dennis were elected as new officers when the Shelby Country club held its annual meeting recently.

Lowmiller succeeds George Reichert jr. as secretary-treasurer while Dennis succeeds W. B. Kuhn as vice president.

J. C. Morris was reelected to serve his third term as president of the group.

During the annual meeting reports were made and the trustees reelected. It was announced that membership had increased from 200 to 250, and a waiting list has been started.
